Board sticks to full-day classes

Schools face money woes

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus School District is definitely between a rock and a hard place.

It is facing a deficit of $660,000 and the school board is not willing to put grades one through six on half-days, the only recommended proposal by Supt. James Garfield that would slash enough money from the budget.

Twice the board deadlocked, 3-3, when half-day sessions were proposed at last week's meeting, with Ron Christensen absent. Shirley Lombardi, Gloria Chandler and President Gerald Budd voted reluctantly for half days, while board Vice-President Jack Bath, Gordon Silvey and newcomer Wayne Avery voting against the two and one-half hour days.

Half days for grades one through six would have saved $500,000.

The board finally voted, 4-2, to cut ancillary services "as much as possible". Ancillary services include transportation, food services, custodial services, maintenance and secretarial staff.

Garfield estimated these cuts would save somewhere between $150,000 and $450,000, far short of the required slash of $660,000. The board's refusal to go along with Garfield's recommendation of half-days was a disappointment to him.

"We're going to have to go to half-days sooner or later, as far as I can see," said the school superintendent. "I don't like half-days any more than anybody else — but cuts, and substantial cuts, have to be made in our budget. We cannot run a deficit budget and we will have to make the necessary cutbacks to bring our spending into line with our revenues," he said after the meeting.

"In cutting $700,000 to one million dollars from the budget, we're talking about people,"

Garfield told the school board during the meeting. Half-day sessions over a short period of time — and I think studies will support this — are not detrimental to children's learning," he said, trying to persuade the board to go along with half-days for the first semester of the next school year.

Board President Budd kept polling the six members present for their feelings about the shortened daily teaching time. When Budd's efforts failed to reach a consensus, Garfield asked for a vote on the question. The 3-3 deadlock was the result.

"I'll never vote for half days," said Wayne Avery, who was elected to the school board June 13. "I believe we should put the sixth grade in the junior high schools and combine students into other schools. I'm for not only closing schools, but selling them."

"I'd rather close the schools than vote for half days. If schools ever go on half days, I'll enroll my children in parochial school or move out of the city," Avery said.

Mrs. Lombardi disagreed with Avery. "I am for half-day sessions she said. "That will get the attention of people who will need babysitters." In answer to Avery's point about closing schools, Lombardi said, "Your argument assumes two things — one, that the millage will fail — and two, Romulus will not grow. I believe in the future of Romulus and it's gonna grow. Then we'll need more schools and it would be foolish to have to have a millage election to build new schools."

Avery asked Garfield, "If the millage passes, where would we be?"

"We would be out of debt," Garfield replied.

Earlier, Romulus Education Association President Terry Bird advocated shutting down the schools completely if students had to go on half days.

"I don't know how anyone can sit with a good conscience and tell 3,800 elementary school kids they'll only have half-days," he told the school board. "We all had the opportunity to receive a good education and these children do too."

"I think there is an alternative. If we have half days, we should close down completely. Romulus schools should have 7,500 students but the projection is one thousand less, 6,500 — they drop out somewhere along the line," Bird said.

A lady in the audience said real estate people look down on the values of homes in Romulus because of the poor school situation. "They tell us 'If you live in Westland, Iaylor or someplace else, your house would be worth more.'"

"Do you honestly feel we enjoy this situation?" Mrs. Chandler asked the audience. "Doing this to the kids of Romulus Schools?" The two-hour board meeting drew a roomful of people, mainly teachers, but far less than was expected for the important session.

Bird was asked how his proposal would work to close the schools. "Set a balanced budget—but don't pay the utility bills, he said. Run the schools until we run out of money, then shut everything down. Other school districts have done it and the state has stepped in and made sure the kids got an education."

Silvey inquired of Garfield how much would be saved if all transportation was cut. "About $250,000 Garfield answered.

"I believe we have to use a scare tactic, threatened Mrs. Chandler, as the discussion turned to how the millage could be passed.

"I don't agree with that theory," countered Garfield. "I won't recommend that we do something just for that purpose."

"I'm for cutting transportation and custodial services," Bath interjected.

When some board members didn't want to cut transportation, Silvey observed, "We've backed down time after time and now we need to stand up and take action."

"I won't go for piece-meal changes," Bath said.

"I don't think we have to 'scare' people," Avery explained. "A large number of people will turn out in September and I believe those are 'yes' votes."

"I believe a better word than 'scare' could have been used," Mrs. Chandler said in retrospect, referring to her earlier suggestion. "But how are we going to get the people to vote for this needed millage?"

Then Garfield suggested another thought. "There is a second alternative," he pointed out. "We could do nothing until after the millage vote, then hack the h-l out of the budget for the second semester."

Then followed Lombardi's motion to put grades 1-6 on half days for the full 1977-78 school year. Lombardi, Chandler and Budd voted yes. Silvey, Avery and Bath said no and it did not pass.

Chandler then moved the board do nothing until after the Sept. 12 election but it died for lack of support.

Then the board moved to cut ancillary services "as much as possible". It passed on a 4-2 vote, with Silvey, Bath, Chandler and Budd voting yes and Avery and Lombardi dissenting.

Garfield admitted after the meeting that it was impossible to tell how much would be saved by the motion. "Obviously, we can't eliminate everything in the areas of transportation, food services, custodial services, maintenance and secretarial help." He said he would have an answer when the board meets again Aug. 8.

Garfield's recommended program reductions for 1977-78 fiscal year and their estimated savings are as follows:

—Place grades 1-6 on half-day sessions, lay off 40 classroom teachers — $491,000.

—Eliminate all breakfast and lunch programs — $25,000.

—Cut secondary vocal and instrumental music programs, lay off three instructors — $67,000.

—Eliminate guidance services for grades 7, 8, 9; lay off three counselors — $62,000.

—Cut fall interscholastic athletic program grades 7-12 — $16,000.

—Eliminate all programs in drama, school camps, forensics, special interest clubs, intramural activities, and student social activities — $10,000.

—Bus transportation limited to those students living one and one-half or more miles from school they attend. Cost savings may be nil due to increased bus runs if district has half-day sessions —?

—Eliminate all school food service programs — $96,000.

—Eliminate health and nursing services, one nurse — $19,500.

—Eliminate street crossing guards — $6,000.

—Reduce school custodial services, lay off 10 custodians — $103,000.

—Eliminate administrative positions of director, alternative program and athletic director — $5,000.

These recommendations, if implemented, would slash approximately $901,000 from the budget.

No matter what the board decides, it still has to come up with more cuts than just the ones made last week.

Donates pictures to city

Dane Gamble, manager of McDonald's Restaurant on Wayne Road in Romulus, likes to redecorate his interior walls often. His latest innovation is to enlarge pictures of old-time Romulus and show residents what the city used to look like. Picture postcards were donated by Mrs. Charles Lau which McDonald's had enlarged to the size shown in the background. Then the famous hamburger eatery donated the nine negatives to the city.

Gamble (right) presents the negatives to Mayor James C. Stewart (center) and Jay Young, public information officer.

An editorial opinion

ANP urges city manager government

There comes a time in the course of human events when it is necessary to look at the facts in the cold, hard light of day.

The case in point is the approaching city election in the City of Romulus. As the campaign is now shaping up, it appears to be a repetition of past ones in which political in-fighting, charges and counter-charges by candidates and acts of violence to discourage competition were the order of the day.

The label of "the cuckoo's nest" is being given to Romulus City Hall where a continuous number of ridiculous skirmishes between the present administration and its opponents have usurped the normal and necessary business of running a city in the best interests of its citizens.

We believe that Romulus is a good city, with many good, hard-working citizens who are proud of their community. We believe that for Romulus to not fall by the wayside, it must take constructive steps NOW to continue on its path to becoming one of the most promising industrially-oriented suburbs in Western Wayne County.

The city must rid itself of candidates whose chief objective seems to be the election to public office for the sole purpose of reaping the fruits of political power and for their own self-advancement.

The citizens of Romulus must stand up and demand the caliber of political candidates who will move their city forward, who will put the best interests of the community first and who will campaign for those offices on a high moral plane.

With Romulus sitting at the crossroads of great industrial expansion; the economic fate of the entire community is at stake. Prospective industrial developers would be loath to spend millions of dollars to build in a city torn apart every two years by political strife and dissension among its inhabitants.

Rather, these developers would look with favor on a community whose elected leaders are dedicated to such goals as furthering the cultural and moral fiber of its citizens by building senior citizen housing and giving assistance to church, youth and overall community projects. Their decision on whether to invest in a community would be swayed by such items as the development of a master plan for the city in regard to future residential, commercial and industrial expansion.

These are the types of wholesome and constructive objectives that elected leaders in Romulus must strive for, and these are the types of elected leaders that Romulus voters must demand in the candidates running for public office.

To eliminate much of the political bickering and fighting which now threatens to pull Romulus down into the quagmire of corruption and deterioration, a change must take place. We firmly believe a feasible solution would be a change to a kind of city government more suited to the specific needs of this small, but growing community.

To this end, we believe that the part-time mayor, city manager type of city government would lend itself to providing the City of Romulus with the tools needed to go forward. Under this form of government, the part-time mayor is paid a low salary, with the top salary paid to a professionally-trained city manager appointed by the city council under a contract of specified duration.

The mayor would preside at council sessions and give overall direction to the workings of city government, but it is the city manager who is entrusted with such important tasks as appointing department heads on the basis of merit, training and ability and performing the thousand and one jobs of running city government smoothly and efficiently.

This type of city government has proved quite successful in Pontiac, Wayne and Ann Arbor. More recently, Garden City has switched to this progressive form of government.

The part-time mayor, city manager form takes much of the politics out of city government. It does away with "popular" candidates who are elected to office, but who cannot fulfill the important duties and responsibilities expected of them by those who put them in their elected seats. It puts an end to mayors, who under the strong mayor, council form of government now in Romulus, appoint "friends" and "buddies" to important city jobs solely on the basis of favors owed from the campaign which put them in office.

Therefore, we strongly urge the creation of a Charter Review Commission, as permitted under state statutes, to investigate this promising alternative to the type of city government now in operation in Romulus.

Also, as stipulated by state law, citizens could vote on the proposed part-time, city manager form of government at a public referendum, thereby exercising the will of the majority under our democratic system of national government.

A change to the city manager form of government probably is the last chance for Romulus citizens to wrest control of their future destiny from those persons who would jeopardize it for their own selfish ends.

Citizens of Romulus, the choice is in your hands.

Stewart: Vandalism is further harrassment

Mayor James C. Stewart claims he knows who smashed the front windows of his campaign headquarters on Goddard Road last week.

"It's just a continuation of the last election harassment of two years ago," charged the outspoken Stewart, who often is embroiled in political controversy.

The long-time councilman is finishing his first term as mayor after a bitter election battle in 1975 in which he defeated incumbent Terry Troutt by a mere handful of votes. In that campaign, someone set fire to a trailer which served as Stewart's headquarters.

Referring to the latest incident, he said: "I know who did it and the vehicle that was used," Stewart said. "I have a witness who saw the entire thing."

Stewart claims the witness saw two men drive up to the building at 35947 Goddard between 10 p.m. and midnight on July 18. The two men got out of their vehicle and threw two bricks and three stones through the front window, according to the witness, the mayor said.

Stewart also said the witness obtained the license plate number and the make and color of the vehicle used in the vandalism.

"I definitely know it was politically motivated and not just young vandals," the 51-year-old mayor said. He also reported that he has received information concerning who burned his trailer in 1975.

"We're not going to let this phase us. We're going to put on a big push in the days ahead and I think we'll come out all right," he said.

Bandsmen fill city streets with the 'sounds of music'

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

A lot of kids are spending the summer knocking a ball all over the lot.

But others are beating a drum, or playing other instruments as they march through the subdivisions of Romulus.

It's all part of the Romulus Honors Band activity, under the leadership of director-conductor Richard Kruse. Containing elementary, junior high and high school students, the band is part of the Romulus Recreation Department summer program and plays twice a week.

And, you might say, it all started by accident.

"Last year we were getting ready for the Bicentennial parade," Kruse recalled, "and the people came out of their homes to watch and hear us play. I thought it would be a good idea to do it on a regular basis this year."

So they do. Kruse is employed by the Recreation Department during the summer as he marches his musical minions, like a piper, through the streets of the city, playing music for the residents of Romulus. The band, which numbers approximately 25 members, also plays for senior citizen's groups and at convalescent homes.

Volunteers meet at North Junior High School at 9 a.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays before fanning out into various subdivisions, serenading residents with a variety of popular and march tunes.

One morning last week, they started at City Hall, then travelled to Huron Hills Subdivision, marching down the street to the pounding drum, singing brass and whistling woodwinds. Then they played an entertaining concert at the Apple Tree Lane Convalescent Center on Chase Street.

Kruse says there are three advantages to the band members playing this way.

"First of all, it gets the music out into the community and shows what these fine kids can do," said Kruse, who can play every instrument in the marching band. The talented musician, who directs the music program at North Junior High during the school year, plays 12 instruments. Included in the list are piccolo, flute, oboe, bassoon, clarinet, saxophone, cornet, French horn, baritone (baby tuba), trombone, tuba and drums. Kruse directed the North Junior High band to a spot among the top four junior high bands in the state.

"There are many fine musicians in all of our Romulus schools," he said. "And all they need is a chance to play. I love music and this is a thrill to me to be able to provide them with a chance to play during the summer."

Kruse said the second thing the marching band activity provides during these hot days is excellent training.

"Thirdly, it helps develop ability to maintain tempo," he added. Kruse has a master's degree from the University of Michigan in wind instruments. He also has 24 hours toward a doctorate.

When the State Department sent the U-M Symphony Band to Russia in 1961, Kruse was one of three featured clarinet soloists in the group.

"We played in the Soviet Union for eight weeks and the people really loved the music," he recalled. "At that time, the average Soviet worker's monthly wages were around $60 a month and they spent $13 to hear us play. That means, they spent close to a week's wages to hear our music."

Kruse has high praise for the opera houses of the countries in Russia and eastern Europe.

"The opera houses have the finest acoustics possible. I especially remember playing in Kiev — the sound was so clear and beautiful, it was astounding."

In addition to Russia, the U-M Symphonic Band played concerts in Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, Cyprus, Greece, Turkey, Romania and Poland.

Kruse said that 1961 trip was one of the highlights of his life. He always has loved music. "I started playing as a boy in Albany, N.Y., where I grew up," he said. "I come by it naturally, because my father was a great lover of music and passed it along to me."

Now Kruse finds as much enjoyment in teaching others to play. The Romulus Honors Band is the only one playing on the suburban streets, Kruse believes. Some 40 members of the band played for the recent Fourth of July Parade in Romulus.

The Honors Band is just one of several continuing programs being offered by the Romulus Recreation Department during the summer.

Other activities include karate classes, ballet, movies, swimming, bowling, golf, roller skating, tennis, softball and gymnastics. Information concerning these and other activities may be obtained by calling the Recreation Department at 941-0666, ext. 67 or 68.

Yes, others may rap out a steady beat with a ball and a bat during the summer but the well-travelled Kruse would rather take the beat of a drum, a mellow woodwind or a sharp brass note instead.

Strutting in the suburbs

The Romulus Honors Band has undertaken something quite unique this summer, under the direction of conductor Richard Kruse. Marching through neighborhood streets, the 25 members take their music to the residents as well as work on their timing, footwork and tonal quality. Kruse, who is director of North Junior High's music program during the school year, heads up the band which is made up of elementary, junior and senior high school students. The band plays twice a week and has entertained at convalescent homes and senior citizen get-togethers.—ANP photo.

Stoney issue

Politics in Romulus can be very volatile at times and even though the primary election is still more than six weeks away, things are already heating up. Mayor James C. Stewart claims he has witness who saw the men who threw two bricks through the front window of this campaign headquarters on Goddard Road last week. The vandalism reportedly took place between 10 p.m. and midnight July 18.—ANP photo.

Meet airs closing

Ever since the Romulus School Supt. James Garfield and the school board have been discussing the possibility of closing Beverly Elementary School, parents in that area have been organizing to "save" their school.

Several meetings have been held to discuss possible courses of action. The "Save the Beverly School and Community Organization" will hold its next meeting at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Community Action Center, located directly across from Beverly School on Beverly Rd. in Romulus.

"All citizens are urged to attend this meeting because issues relative to the closing of the Beverly School, as proposed by the Romulus Board of Education, will be discussed and additional activities to deter this action will be planned," a spokesperson for the group said. "Attendance at this meeting is mandatory, our as children can no longer be subjected to the obvious abuses of the Romulus Board of Education and the present administration."

For additional information, call Mrs. Dorothy Ball at 722-3878, Mrs. Zeffi Beaman at 721-0679 or Mrs. Dorothy Weekly at 728-8860.

RHA hosts horse show

The Romulus Horseman's Association (RHA) will hold its first annual Open Horse Show Sunday at Riddle's Circle R Ranch, 18284 Inkster Road, Romulus.

The show starts at 8:30 a.m., and there is a $1 parking fee per family.

"This show is a big step for the association and we are hoping that area residents, non-horse owners as well as horsemen, will support us by attending," said Charlotte McBride, director of the RHA. "To that end we have planned some unusual events with great spectator appeal. We have the exciting Hunter Jumper over fences classes and the pretty Driving Horses class."

"I believe we are the only show to offer a Tennessee Walking Horse Class and a Racking Horse Class events that are more commonly seen south of the Mason-Dixon line."

The director said many of the RHA membership come from Belleville and the surrounding area as well as Romulus.

"Of course, there will be the standard 4-H classes: Halter, English, Western Pleasure and even Lead line for the tots," she added. "We want everyone to come out and enjoy a fun family event."

Judge for the horse show will be Bryce McGinnes Jr. Show Secretary is Betty Baschal, who may be called at 782-1291 for further information.

Pollution level is cause

Health officials close Belleville Lake

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville Lake is dirty.

Too dirty for humans but not for the fish.

That was the conclusion of Wayne County Health officials who closed the Lake to swimmers and water skiers Friday because of polluted water but left it open for fishing and boating.

Bacteria levels are 10 to 25 times higher than the maximum state quality standards for safety, according to Glenn Brown, director of environmental health division of the Wayne County Dept. of Health.

"For many years, we've been sampling Belleville Lake and other area lakes to compare them with state standards," Brown said Friday.

"The past several years Belleville Lake has had good quality results and we're honestly not quite sure what has caused the dangerously high bacteria count."

As a result of the high pollution count, two area bathing beaches have been closed on Belleville Lake. They are the Van Buren Township Park beach off Denton Road and the private bathing area off the south I-94 service drive at the east end of the lake.

"We're posting 'No Swimming' signs at those two beaches and at other strategic points around the lake so people will know the water is not safe for swimming," Brown said. Red and white signs reading: "Warning, Polluted Water, Do Not Enter" were posted at several points around the lake Friday afternoon.

Although some 200,000 gallons of raw sewage spilled into Belleville Lake Thursday, Wayne County health officials insisted that was not the only reason for closing the lake to swimmers and water skiers. The sewage spilled occurred Thursday evening when an electrical power outage stopped a waste water pump for almost three hours on Snow Road near Rawsonville.

Health officials have been monitoring the lake for weeks and the bacteria count has been hovering near the unsafe level of 200 organisms per 100-milliliter sample, Brown pointed out. Some recent samplings have gone as high as 5,000.

Not only are health officials unaware of where the bacteria is coming from, they do not have the slightest ideas when the lake will be clean enough to swim in again.

Brown said he received cooperation from Van Buren Township officials and the owner of the private beach when he asked them to close the areas to swimmers. Wayne County Health dept. doesn't have the authority to close unsafe areas, but would have to go to court if owners didn't voluntarily comply.

"We're very appreciative of the cooperation we've received from everyone involved in complying with our request to close the swimming areas," Brown said. "We plan to sample the lake water every other day and will give permission to reopen the swimming areas as soon as the water quality reaches a safe level again."

Actually, the bacteria in the water is human and animal excrement. It comes from the intestinal tract of warm-blooded humans and animals and is technically called "fecal coliform" Brown said. "We're indicators of water pollution."

The water quality count is based on at least five samplings, Brown said. He pointed out that the bacteria count may vary greatly in different parts of the lake. "What we've found this year has fluctuated greatly and some of our sample results are substantially higher than 200. Some samples have exceeded the standards of safety by 10 to 25 times."

Belleville Lake is not the only one to be closed to swimmers.

"In Wayne County we sampled two other areas which have public bathing beaches and requested one of them to close and they did," Brown explained. "The area we closed was along Lake St. Clair in Grosse Pointe Farms."

The other area, Silver Lake in Northville Township, has had consistently high quality water and it is remaining open. It is a privately-owned small lake which is open only for the residents of the large housing development.

Brown insists health officials do not know why levels of pollution have risen so high. "We are continuing our sampling activities, and even stepping them up in some cases," he said. "We're investigating all possible sources of the pollution."

There are three large waste treatment plants (upriver from Belleville Lake and some observers believe they may have something to do with the increase in bacteria).

Van Buren Township Supervisor Pat Cullin was disappointed at the Friday's county health ruling, but complied immediately with their request. "We want to do what's best for the health and safety of all," she said. "Mr. Brown of the Wayne County Health Department said he would keep in touch with us and let us know when it would be safe to swim again in Belleville Lake."

Brown was to have set up a meeting Monday at Van Buren Township Hall to discuss the Belleville Lake situation with Mrs. Cullin, an official of Ypsilanti and a member of the Dept. of Natural Resources.

Supervisor Cullin also called upon residents to help in every way they can. "If anyone sees or is told of raw sewage getting into Belleville Lake, they should call me as soon as possible. If we know about it, we can take action, but if we don't hear, then we don't know it's going on," she said.

So Belleville Lake remains closed to swimmers and water skiers even though people are still permitted to fish in it. But even the fishermen admit they don't eat the fish they catch in the polluted water.

Meeting airs incentives to hire handicapped

By GERALD T. HARRIS
Part II

(Note: Gerald Harris is the chairman of the Michigan Legislative Council, Organization for the Handicapped, and was a congressional delegate for Congressman William D. Ford to the recent White House Conference on the Handicapped.)

The delegates discussed some 38 issues to make recommendations and clarified those dealing with tax incentives for employers of the handicapped, Social Security amendments and job placement programs, which stimulated the greatest amount of the discussion. The recurring appeal throughout the entire deliberation was for enforcement of existing regulations and statutes now in existence, both federal and state.

Speaking for themselves, the handicapped delegates stressed that they want no special favors, but an opportunity to stand on their own abilities. The delegates favored provision of IRS tax credits and-or deductions to employers who hire handicapped persons. Much stress was placed on job placement and cooperative job training efforts between industry and labor. There was a great deal of controversy on the responsibility for placement being placed on rehabilitation counselors. Here, Michigan already has the jump on other states through the Michigan Vocational Rehabilitation Service.

Legislation should be provided to implement the authority to enforce affirmative action laws to eliminate job discrimination against the handicapped in job placement. Labor's concern was rejected by organized labor with the misconception that seniority is discriminatory to the handicapped. It is perceived as protection for all employees, including the disabled. Labor feels that, if the seniority system is abolished, this would be discriminatory to all employees. I also agree with that for the protection of all persons.

Industry wants to bring Section 503 and 504 of the Rehabilitation Act together so they will not be placed in a position of carrying out one set of regulations and then finding that they have violated another set of laws. I feel, that as Congressman William D. Ford's congressional delegate, this means a much closer relationship between all handicapped individuals and the U. S. Congress. I know that the handicapped people can count on Congressman Ford to bring about improvement on educational problems for the handicapped, as well as civil service and labor, knowing that the Congressman serves on these committees in the Congress.

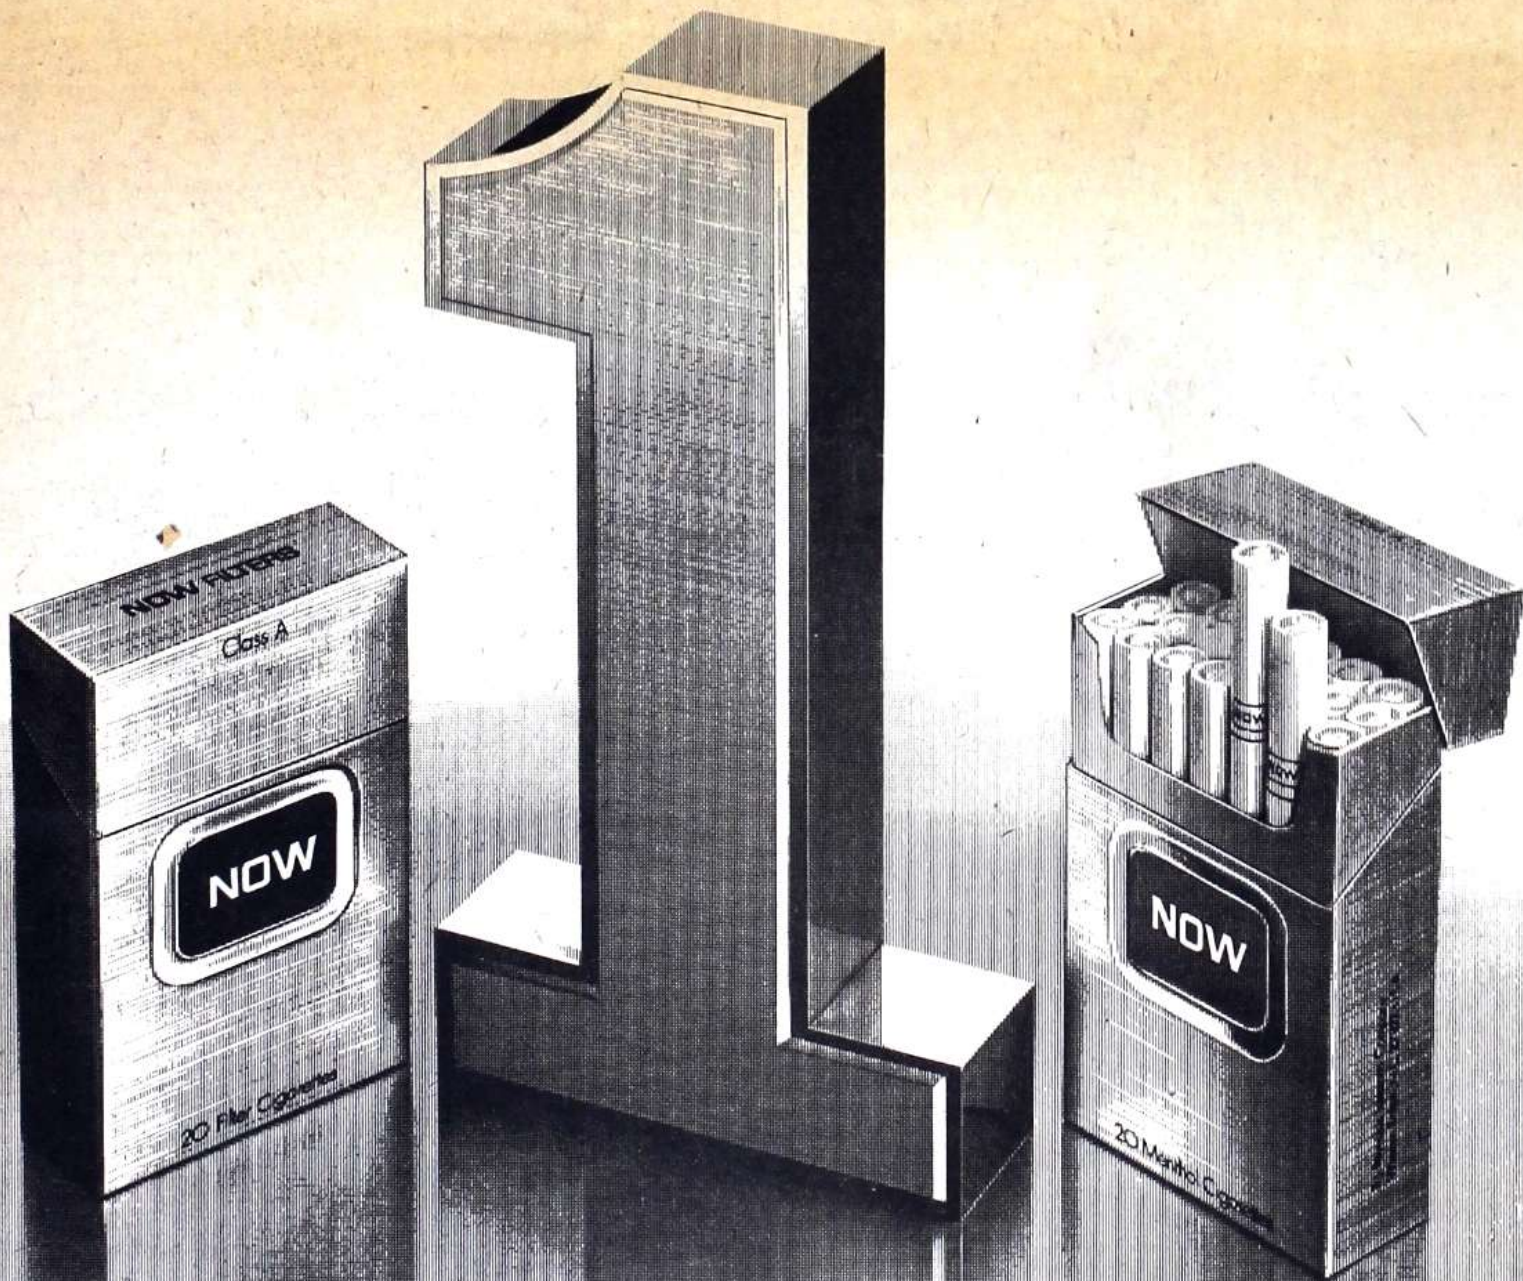

In the future I will ask that Congressman Ford meet with the handicapped people concerning some of the programs and problems that we are confronted with. I am looking forward to greater accomplishments within the Congress and the Executive Branch for all handicapped persons.

Delegates felt teachers are excluding disabled children from the classroom. They urged that mainstreaming techniques be used on teachers, and suggested that more disabled teachers be used to teach disabled students in regular classrooms. The strongest statements by delegates called for strict adherence to, and enforcement of, the sections in the Vocational Rehabilitation Act, which concerns affirmative action in employment and equality in education, and for realistic goals and timetables to be set for their implementation.

Recommendations pertaining to preschool (up to 5 years) handicapped children emerged. The need for stronger parent advocacy groups, the extension of the education for all Handicapped Children Act, to include disabled children up to 5 years of age, the broadening of definitions of developmental disabilities to include all handicapped children under 18 and the certification of all preschool teachers in special education.

Once, again, proving that one's life can be fruitful and useful to mankind and himself!

CB World

A special thank you from 'Nightbird'

By JANICE PLESIEWICZ
Nightbird KNN 5032

On July 16, 1977 CB Jamboree '77 took place at the Belleville 4-H Fairgrounds in Belleville. Sponsored by Associated Newspapers and hosted by Nightbird, it was a first for this area, and I am pleased to report that it was a total success.

The morning started out with an overcast sky and intermittent rain showers. Even with the gloomy looking weather that morning it didn't put a damper on things. As the day progressed the weather broke and all turned out to be in our favor.

Booth space was provided to all merchants who wished to participate in the jamboree. Those present were Pueblo Jewelry Stop, Michigan Mobile Radio, Auto Audio Sales, Goobers House of CB and Photography - Magnetic Signs.

Special booth space was provided to clubs and organizations, such as the Belleville Watchful Eyes who passed out any information available pertaining to their club activities. Watch for a follow-up story to follow about this group in the near future.

Highway Emergency Life Patrol (HELP) was on the scene passing out information of all types, signing up new members and operating a base from the fairgrounds. All visitors to Jamboree '77 were offered free coffee compliments of the HELP organization.

One booth that was kept very busy all day was the name tag display. Owned and operated by Sugar and Spice, they were hard at work all day making name tags of all sorts for the Cbers.

Another crowd pleaser was the jail, supplied and operated by the Carleton 21ers. These people did a fantastic job of keeping people locked up throughout the day. Proceeds from the jail were being donated to Muscular Dystrophy. If you felt that you wanted to put someone in jail you paid a deputy 25 cents to arrest the person of your choice and lock him up for five minutes per quarter donated. For some reason Nightbird spent a lot of time in that jail.

The Easter Seal Society brought out a dunk tank for some wet enjoyment. There were volunteers to sit in the tank all day as the weather turned quite hot and humid toward mid-day. There were many requests to have Nightbird dunked. I'm sorry I had to decline the requests but that "bird bath" was just a little too deep for my liking.

The Michigan State Police sent out a car from the Flat Rock Post equipped with CB radio, radar and the whole works including a "super" trooper, named Blue Bear, who spent the whole day explaining how all of the gadgets worked. When he wasn't busy talking to the people, he was putting Operation Identification into motion. For those of you who may not be too familiar with operation identification it is engraving your CB with your driver's license number so that if it should be stolen, you stand a chance of having it returned to you. Identifying tags also were supplied for your car windows.

Blue Bear, as we all know him, probably is better known as Larry Boger of the Flat Rock State Police Post and one of the biggest ratchet jawing super troopers around, but he's also one of the best you could ever want to know.

The American Red Cross was present to render first aid to any visitors. They set up a first aid station and were at the fairgrounds from opening until closing.

On the scene for most of the day was the Wayne County Sheriff Patrol along with their large (and I do mean large) communications mobile, motorcycles and patrol cars. Not only did they set up their communications mobile for the public to inspect and answer any questions, but along with those items came their patrol helicopter which landed and took off throughout the day. Most officers donated their time to be with us on their day off.

If there was a way of thanking you men in CB talk I would, but since I can't think of anything all I can say is you did us a big favor, and we thank you.

For anyone who got hungry and didn't bring a lunch the Belleville Jaycees provided food at the concession stand. The Jaycees did a great job, and we hope to see them there again next year.

Several disc jockey were with us to represent their radio stations. WDRQ sent out the Q van, which in turn handed out free bumper stickers to anyone who wanted one. WMJC's Mike Rose spent a lot of the day in jail after turning Nightbird into a human billboard. He decided to advertise his radio station across my back with the aid of a black magic marker. By the way, all of you people who wrote across my back with that magic marker, in case your wondering if I got it off and how, the answer is yes. It took about 1 1/2 hours by using nail polish remover and brillo. If anyone would care to donate a jar of Noxzema to cover the raw spots on my back just forward them to me in care of this newspaper.

WDSO also was at the Jamboree with their disc jockies popping in throughout the day.

A new Ford Ltd. and a motor home was supplied to us for use by the celebrities and Jamboree officials by Jack Demmer Ford. I would personally like to say a special thank you to Don Williams, a super salesman and friend.

I don't know what to say about Strolie, our clown. She did one terrific job all day handing out balloons to the kids and rarely took a break. Sore feet were definitely in order for her at the end of the day.

Located on the grounds were a popcorn wagon and an ice cream truck. I'm not sure who operated the popcorn wagon so please excuse me for not mentioning your name. The ice cream truck came courtesy of the Belleville Playboy.

At 2 p.m. Nightbird arrived by helicopter. All I can say is it was quite an experience. I was presented a beautiful corsage of yellow roses by Pup Dog (Steve Gorelik), vice-president of the HELP organization. I also was greeted and escorted from the plane by Dennis Fassett, managing editor of Associated Newspapers and Mr. Krandall, caretaker of the fairgrounds.

At 5 p.m. the Ghoul arrived to sign autographs and judge the pie eating contest. Along with his crazy antics and M-80s everyone seemed to enjoy seeing the Ghoul at the Jamboree. There were contests for the largest club in attendance. HELP took that award. The oldest Cber in the crowd was won by Winnie Winkle of Channel 7. The club traveled the furthest still has not been revealed to me.

Entertainment was supplied by two area bands who donated their time to Jamboree '77. Gary Dean and the Hombres furnished country and western music, while Mickey Quatro and Rozz supplied a wide variety of musical arrangements. Hungry Jack and his sister made a perfect duo, singing John Denver arrangements.

We can't forget our two 18 wheelers who took the time to come out and let us have a look at their rigs. Brutus and Brown Binder are the two people I am talking about. Brutus tells us that he can't wait until next year to do it again, right Brutus? Oh, one thing, from now on watch where you sign your name Brutus — over!!

The Romulus chapter of HELP had a booth of their own. While giving information they also raffled off a Cobra-85 mobile radio.

The Associated Newspapers booth was hectic all day. Several pieces of equipment were donated as raffle items by the Romulus City Drugs, Northside Hardware, Cobra Inc., K-Mart — Cherry Hill and Wayne Roads, Radio Shack — Metro Place Mall and Radio Shack — Ford Road and Wayne Roads, Bill Evans, mgr.

Thank you for your co-operation from myself, Nightbird, and the staff of Associated Newspapers.

I would like to say a special thank you to the following people who did a lot of work behind the scenes in order to make Jamboree '77 what it was: Sitting Duck, Red Apple, Jimbo, Butterfly, Chicken Hawk, Aqua Maid, Derrick Haywood of WCAR radio, Tiger Shark, Cherokee Base, Southern Lady, Sandpiper, Sourkraut and Minnie Mouse.

I have just one more "super special" thank you to make. This one belongs to Hungry Jack and his family. If it hadn't been for his effort and devotion to Jamboree '77 just about half of it probably wouldn't have come off. He resigned himself to living, eating and sleeping for the

A tune in the early '70s seemed to fit a recent heat wave that descended on Western Wayne County — "When you're hot, you're hot". And a record shipment of 469,000 cases of pop by Faygo Beverages Inc. to its markets in Michigan, 11 other states and the District of Columbia indicates that there were plenty of hot people during the nine days of 90-degree plus temperatures.

The shipment was up 34 percent from the highest volume of product shipped any week last year, a company spokesman said, adding: "A good bet is that never have people drunk so much pop as they did while trying to survive 100-degree temperatures."

From the Editor:

How to get your story in the paper

How does one go about getting a news item published in the paper? A common question asked by hundreds of individuals and groups throughout the community.

Because the question has been asked so frequently in the past, and will probably be asked again in the future, Associated Newspapers is devoting this space to a detailed explanation of how to improve the odds that your story will make the pages of your newspaper.

A community group or civic organization should suggest that the group give one person the responsibility of dealing with the paper. That person should come into the office and discuss with the news editor, the paper's deadline for news items in your community, the type of photographs suitable for inclusion in the paper, and the identifying information for photographs.

In addition, the person delegated the responsibility for working with the paper should make an attempt to gain an understanding of procedures employed by the newspaper.

An individual who wishes to place an item in the paper should also contact the news editor for deadlines and the proper procedures for preparing news material and photos for submission.

In general, any item submitted to your paper will have a better chance of getting in if a few simple guidelines are followed.

Always type submitted material, if possible. It is time-consuming and costly for the newspaper to type material that is submitted in handwritten form. In addition, some people write illegibly and it is almost impossible to read their writing.

When typing information for the story, start the story down in the middle of the first sheet of paper. By leaving the top half of the sheet blank, the editor has space to instruct the typesetters on how to set the story. The space at the top of the paper will also be used to instruct the composition department on what page the material will be printed.

Again, if material is typed, it should be triple spaced. This will allow the editor to correct spelling and grammatical errors. Single-spaced letters do not provide any space for those corrections.

If the material is submitted handwritten, it should also be triple-spaced on lined paper, and the material should be printed rather than written.

Handwritten stories that are submitted single spaced must always be typed by the editorial staff prior to printing. This additional effort will require more time by the paper, and consequently, the article may appear late in the paper.

Photographs which accompany any news item submitted to the paper should be black and white, no smaller than two inches square or larger than 8 by 10 inches. All photographs should have the name of the subjects printed on the back, and also the name of the person they are to be returned to.

Color photographs sometimes can be used, but may be rejected by the photo editor, if he believes they will not reproduce properly.

If a photograph is necessary to properly support the news item sent in, a call well in advance of the activity should be made to request that a photographer be assigned. While it is impossible for the paper to assign a photographer to all the requested events, we will make every effort to cover events of a broad general news interest.

These few simple guidelines will considerably improve the chances of a submitted story making it into the paper.

While we are dedicated to serving the community, it only stands to reason that articles properly prepared will be handled the fastest. However, there are times when we will have no one available for handling those articles that may require special treatment.

Never request that your news item be taken over the phone. This practice leads to errors and if the article is worth printing, it is worth printing properly.

Clip this article from the paper and keep it handy for those times when you might wish to submit an article for the paper.

By following these guidelines, you will make our job easier and your article better.

We are standing by waiting to hear from you.

Working together, we can build a better community.

Hung up on the ball

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Golfers are a breed apart ... Drug addiction is no worse than getting "hung up" on that tiny white pill called a golf ball. Starting out is innocent enough when a friend casually asks you to visit the golf course and play a round of 18 holes. But little do you realize the dangers involved in such a venture.

Over the years I have tried in vain to relax from the pressures of life by trying to make that little pink-marked ball disappear into a microscopic hole.

However, I'm greatly hindered. Not once have I sworn after dubbing a shot, broke my club upon blowing a 12-inch putt or tossed my clubs in a water hole. A Christian is supposed to refrain from the weaknesses of other mortals.

Oh, I may come out with, "You dummy, Jim, you didn't hit that one very well!" Or, after parring two holes in a row and missing a pressure-packed two-footer for a par, perhaps I've said, "Oh well, it's just a game." (Don't you believe it. It's not just a game — it's an addiction). Sometimes I'll say, "C'mon Jim, what's the matter with you?" after one of my numerous slices into the woods. (I carry a hatchet as my 15th club).

After going "cold turkey" for a few years, I basked in the freedom of release from the "drug" of touring the links. Then a newspaper friend of mine casually mentioned that he knew where I could pick up a cheap set of golf club for 50 bucks.

"You know, just to play an occasional game," he said.

Little did I know he was a junkie in disguise. Once at the golf course, I was hypnotized by a beautiful set of woods and irons with a high-priced tag. "If you're going to play, you might as well have a decent set," the golf pro teased.

I felt the old urge of addiction rearing its ugly head. A cold sweat broke out on my forehead and I knew I should leave immediately. However, before I could depart, the pro held a swing with this beauty. The beautifully balanced club swept downward in a smooth arc. Too late — it was too late. I was hooked!

I found out immediately the favorite phrase of all golfers. "That won't hurt you!" is what they say every time you hit the ball. "That won't hurt you," my friend yelled at me after I sliced my drive into the edge of the woods. As I hung from a limb by one leg, held back the branch with my left hand and hit the ball with my right, I wondered what constituted a shot that would hurt you.

The dry spring had caused the fairways to bake like cement. I wondered why this one golf course was called "Mortar Meadows". That's where they held the "Concrete Open". I practiced chipping on my cement driveway in preparation for the event.

The only reason for sand traps and water holes on the course was to mix mortar to replace divots. The divots looked like miniature manhole covers. You had to carry a trowel as an extra club to replace the divots.

The golf pro gave me instructions at the first tee. I teed up my ball, kept my left arm straight, head down, even stance, and followed through beautifully with my driver. I was very pleased with my first swing until the pro cracked, "That was a beautiful swing, Jim. The ball should really go if you hit it this time!"

After numerous frustrating rounds of dubbing, hacking, slicing, hooking, shanking, missing, cutting and losing golf balls, I was so dejected I told my wife I was going to quit golf. I had matured quickly to realize I'd never be a golfer. My golf clubs barely slid between the storm windows and snow shovel on the garage rafters.

A small ad in the weekly paper should sell that bag of deceivers, I thought.

Late that night as I prepared for bed the phone rang.

"Oh hello, Uncle Hiram. Yes, this is Jim... Hey, sounds great! I'll meet you on the first tee at five-thirty in the morning..."

A well-aimed pillow and blanket came hurtling from our bedroom and plunked me in the face as I hung up the phone. My wife clicked the lock shut on our bedroom door.

As I curled up on the couch to spend the night, I wondered if anyone has ever found a cure for the golfing bug...

Bald Eagle Speaks

Circumstances

By BOB AMEEN

How often has each of us lamented our lot in life? How often have we run ourselves down for not making as much money as we think we should? How often have we wished and longed for that Utopian vacation trip to Hawaii or the Grecian Islands?

With few exceptions, all of us could be a lot worse off than under whatever circumstances we find ourselves in today. It's true that maybe if we had taken that other job four years ago that we would be making a higher salary now, could have a better house and a better car and life would hold more promise.

But, on the other hand, we could have been hit by a car while crossing the street and be hospitalized flat on our back for the rest of our life, too.

Along with these feelings of "If I had done this, that or the other," comes moods of depression. We feel that nothing will change or get any better and that we are destined to be stuck in the same old rut forever.

One of the best ways to find out just how fortunate we are is to visit a hospital. There you will find victims of car accidents, with wounds that will leave disfiguring scars for a lifetime, or persons who have suffered a severe stroke or heart attack that will incapacitate them for years, or cancer patients who have had a lung removed.

A visit to the ward of those who suffer some form of insanity, whether temporary or permanent, will bring to mind the often quoted "There, but for the grace of God, go I!"

The older we become, the more we realize just how lucky we truly are and how much worse off we could be. Life has a strange way of dealing with all of us, for it seems that a principle of compensating weaves its way through the fabric of our lives.

On the one hand, we find a father of four children, struggling financially to make ends meet. Employed as an assembly line worker in an auto plant, with little or no education, it would seem that he is destined to a life of continual ups and downs. But, perhaps in spite of all his difficulties, he is happy mentally at being able to rear his children with the sweat of his brow and his own two hands. Being able to provide for them gives him immense self-satisfaction.

On the other hand, we find a multi-millionaire who will never need or want more money to rear his family, send his children to college, buy two or three cars for his family's transportation, buy a luxurious house, etc. However, despite all of these material advantages, he is miserable. He and his wife quarrel constantly and have been on the verge of divorce for years. The family is torn apart by the continual fighting and bickering between him and his wife. The children are well on the way to becoming addicted to drugs, their school work is suffering and their mental attitudes are molding them into misfits for the rest of their lives.

Thus, it would seem that everything is not always as it appears on the surface. What one individual has in abundance, the other does not and vice versa. It's as if the guiding hand of the Supreme Being in its wisdom has doled out portions of an infinite number of times in inverse ratios to test how we, as humans, will cope with living out our lives.

So, the next time thoughts of envy, jealousy or depression strike, think of all that you have that some other person does not — good health, excellent family upbringing, an understanding spouse, the ability to think for yourself — the list is almost endless. It will not take long for you to discover that you are not so badly off as you first thought. If everyone had the same physical, mental, economic and philosophic advantages, it would make for a mighty dull world!

Health beat

Vacation mental health, tsk tsk

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

Russ Tuttle is on vacation. This week's column is direct from Mankato, Minn.

Flying on the commuter between the Twin Cities and Mankato, Minnesota is an adventure which is sure to take old pilots back to their days in the sky.

First, the Convair is not a jet: it's propelled by two reciprocating engines which offer a soothing roar and hum, interrupted only occasionally by a loud burp or backfire when the engines are first started. (Backfires and such associated terror are not allowed once you are airborne!)

The ride is a bit bumpy, but it's a short hop and you are only up for 15 minutes and you reach a maximum altitude of 5,000 feet. It's a great ride, especially for an old-timer, as you sit back and day dream in this flying memory of yesterday.

The Mankato Municipal Airport looms straight ahead, and our landing is quickly effected. To this point the vacation has been terrific: just a few hours ago I was shaving in Westland, and now I'm getting out of an airplane some 800 miles away.

I'm refreshed, hardly wrinkled, have no schedules to satisfy, no speeches to make, and no neckties to wear. And, this condition fits in nicely with my personal definition of mental health. For two weeks or so, I have no obligations to anyone or anything. I'll eat as much as I want, and do so when I feel like it. I might shave in the morning if I'm so inclined, or I might say to hell with it.

If my trousers are wrinkled, or my shirt doesn't quite match with the rest of my attire, I'll snicker and not fret. And we all need those times during the year when we can get out of the routine of the work-a-day world — a workaholic may manifest some of the same psychological problems as an alcoholic.

Back to my notes. I'm on my third postcard, and will need a pad of paper shortly.

We collect our baggage (surprise, it made it all the way with us!) and are picked up by my mother in law who will serve as our driver for the 15-minute drive to my wife's childhood home.

As the car starts up the hill from downtown (Mankato is much like Denver in that it's really a large valley) I can sense the attachment Donna has for this house which she lived in for the first 22 years of her life.

The car is turned onto Blue Earth Street. That's right, Blue Earth Street. The County is also called Blue Earth, and if you could only see the rich earth, earth which supports some magnificent farms you would understand why the Indians named so many things in this area Blue Earth.

It's mental health time again, and I'm living out my affection with the mystery of creation.

Mankato is a city populated by some 40-odd thousand souls — the majority of whom seem to be Swedes — and it can boast lakes, two large rivers, a stunning State park, and just to the North, the home of the world-famous Jolly Green Giant.

The downtown area lies on the floor of the valley, and it's an extensive downtown. It's my observation after visiting this city for the past 25 years, that one's accepted position in the social pecking order is determined by how high up in the hills you live.

At the very top of this scenic splendor live the doctors, dentists, lawyers, and others with better-than-average means.

We go about three quarters of the way up the West slope. I guess that gives us some status!

However, Minnesota winters can be, and generally are, severe and without mercy. On more than one occasion my mother in law, a widow, has been forced to stay overnight with a friend or seek refuge in a downtown motel because a sudden blizzard blew in from South Dakota or Iowa and rendered the hills impassable. As a chilling aside, 30 below zero for days at a stretch is not uncommon.

But this is a hardy breed who by choice tolerate such conditions, and within hours the snow has been moved and people once again resume their normal activities.

As you look across town to the East slope (as I'm doing now from the sunporch of my mother in law's house) you see at the top of the hills the Mankato State University. It's a good school which was originally constructed as part of the Minnesota teachers college system. It's grown, and now is a bona fide State university.

Now, no doubt you have never heard of MSU until this very moment. Yet, there is a good reason why you should know something about this school.

Each year in July the quiet campus is invaded by a band of itinerant mercenaries whose activities turn the normally sane town into a frenzy of riotous behavior.

These vagrants come from all sections of the U.S., and the smallest among them puts King Kong to shame. They wear purple thundermugs on their heads with a strange Scandinavian hex sign painted on the sides of the headgear. Their shirts and pants, which at first blush appear to be glued, to their frightening dimensions, are an eerie purple and gold.

In the Detroit Tiger Stadium, and more recently at the Pontiac Silverdome, I've heard these creatures called several names which my editor would not allow me to use in a family newspaper. In Mankato, this array of trained behemoths is known as the Minnesota Vikings football team. They come each year for several weeks to train for the coming professional football season and to sharpen their purple people eating fangs which are ultimately used to chew up my Detroit Lions.

From the State House

Explain latest laws on election recounts

The House has approved bills to make various changes in election laws, including one to allow recounts in general elections for members of congress.

At the present time, recounts are specifically authorized by Michigan law for primary election recounts for congressional races, but not for general elections of U.S. Representatives and Senators. Because of this, the Attorney General has ruled that the State Board of Canvassers has no authority to recount an election to a federal office. Recounts are authorized, however, for any other elective office in Michigan.

The bill approved by the House and sent to the Senate corrects this unusual situation extending recount procedure now used in primary elections for U.S. Senator and Congressional Representatives to apply also to general election for those same offices.

The current law has caused some problems, particularly one last November when the election of a congressman in Michigan's second Congressional District was decided by only 344 votes. Both candidates asked for recounts, but since there was no authority under the state law, their petitions had to be rejected.

This leaves us with a situation under which a defeated candidate for congress has no opportunity — as would a candidate for any other office in Michigan — to ask for a recount in the event of an unusually close vote.

While not usurping the authority of congress to make final decisions on the basis of certified election results, the bill would provide candidates for congress with the same right as candidates for all other offices in the state to seek a recount.

Also sent to the Senate was a bill which would require that voter identification cards include the name and address of the registered voter, the congressional, state senate, state representative, and the county commissioner district, and the precinct number.

Many voters are uncertain as to which electoral districts they live in. Since a clerk must mail a voter identification card to a newly-registered voter, some clerks take advantage of this opportunity to include this information on the voter card, but many others do not. The bill would make this practice mandatory.

The legislation would provide voters with information helpful in knowing who are their elected representatives in congress, the state legislature and county government.

The bill would further require that the clerk send out a corrected copy of the identification card any time there is a change in electoral districts.

Another House-approved bill would provide that a notice of cancellation of voter registration be sent to the Secretary of State in the previous state of registration when a voter changes his registration to Michigan from another state. In addition, it would establish some uniform procedures for handling cancellation notices, both in and out-of-state.

Presently, when a voter registers in Michigan, the clerk is directed by law to determine whether the person was registered elsewhere in the state. If so, the clerk must obtain an authorization to cancel the previous registration and mail this authorization to the previous registration site before the fifth day after the close of registration.

No procedure is specified, however, for cancelling registrations in another state. Although some clerks do this voluntarily, it was felt that it would be preferable to have a uniform method of dealing with registration changes between states. This would help clerks to keep their registration lists up-to-date.

A recent conference of Secretaries of State recommended passage in all states of legislation to ensure interstate communication about registration changes.

A fourth bill sent to the Senate would repeal the requirement that state and county boards of canvassers meet on specific days to declare the results of a special election.

According to present election law, a County Board of Canvassers has to meet on the Thursday after the day of a special election to fill a state representative or state senate vacancy, with the State Board of Canvassers required to meet on the seventh day after the election. The bill would allow them to meet the day after the election, as in the case of November general and August primary elections.

The bill would simplify the post-election process and speed up the reporting of election results in a special election.

Meanwhile, the legislature is moving rapidly in approval of budget bills for the new fiscal year.

After approving all of the appropriations bills that originated in the House, the House has passed a series of Senate budget bills, including those for the Departments of Corrections, Mental Health, Education and Public Health and Community Colleges.

The House boosted the corrections budget by $4.6 million, bringing that total appropriations to $125 million.

The need for additional funds has been caused by the rising prison inmate population. The budget is based on an average of 13,500 inmates for state prisons, including a $9.2 million housing fund to provide separately for additional increases that are expected to push total prison population to 15,185 by the end of the fiscal year.

Hits deprogramming

By GEORGE R. PLAGENZ

A sobbing mother wants to have her son, a Catholic priest, deprogrammed.

"He's 35 years old and he's still not married," complains the woman. "He's kneeling all the time and mumbling and always leading cockamamie parades down the church aisle. We certainly didn't raise him for THIS."

She says she is tired of seeing him in black all the time.

This little parody on a growing practice in religion was seen on the TV spoof, "Fernwood Tonight," a Norman Lear spin-off of the "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" show.

The priest-and-mother skit was intended to be funny. Not so funny are the real-life situations in which parents "rescue" their children from religions they perceive as harmful and subject the "youngsters" (some in their 30s) to deprogramming.

Deprogramming is a "counter-brainwashing" technique by which people who have been programmed ("brain-washed") to believe certain things are persuaded to renounce those beliefs and are restored to "normal."

Persuaded may not be the proper word. Here is how an article in Church and State magazine describes deprogramming:

"It first requires getting physical control of a person. People are seized from behind, sometimes thrown to the ground, handcuffed and forced into cars."

"After the victim is seized, he is held in a motel room or private home for deprogramming."

"Two Denver women were taken halfway across the country to the deprogrammer's house where they were put in a room with iron bars over the windows."

"The subject is carefully guarded so that he cannot escape or reach a telephone."

"Among those present are usually a man of intimidating size and strength, the professional deprogrammers, sometimes persons who have been deprogrammed and family members."

"They work in shifts, hurling questions and accusations and threats against the subject for up to 20 hours a day in order to break him down emotionally."

"If words and threats are not enough, stronger means may be used. One young man of the Hare Krishna sect reported that deprogrammers beat him and put ice over his body day and night in their efforts to break him."

The deprogramming — which normally takes two or three days — ends when the individual breaks down and renounces — or appears to renounce — his religious association.

Up to now, deprogramming has been used primarily on young people who have joined one of the more bizarre religious cults — like Rev. Sun Myung Moon's Unification Church, Hare Krishna or the Children of God.

But what is to stop parents — like the mother in the "Fernwood Tonight" skit — from attempting to deprogram a grownup child who adopts any way of life unacceptable to them?

"There must be many a parent," says an article in Christian Century magazine, "who would like to have one more crack at instilling the old family values and rescuing the child from the evil grip of 'peer pressure influences.'"

What about the Protestant parents whose child becomes a Catholic? Or the Jewish parents whose offspring has converted to Christianity? Or the parent with a homosexual son or daughter? Or one who is bent on going into a profession which his parents consider unsuitable?

Do parents have a right to decide "what is best for their children"?

The author of the article, "Deprogramming and Religious Freedom," in Church and State Magazine, says, "I do not mean to minimize the genuine grief felt by parents whose offspring has joined a religious sect which has aspects many of us would consider bad."

"But clearly, parental values, however well intentioned, cannot be made the legal standard for the lives of their children."

An article in a liberal denominational magazine concurs. "Parents have 18 years in which to transmit their own religious and cultural values to their young," says the author.

"There comes a time when the parent must let go and hope for the best. From that point on, young persons must begin to make their own decisions, even if they are radically at variance with those of their parents."

Resident charges that fence 'blew' show

To the Editor:

I have just witnessed the pinnacle of stupidity. What were the Belleville politicians thinking of when they surrounded their "park" with a fence on the 4th of July, and I use the word "park" loosely.

For the benefit of anyone who does not realize how the people have enjoyed the July 4th festivities in this area over the past few years, let me tell you a little history.

As everyone knows, there is not much open land on the lake for spectators to watch a ski show. The show also has to be put on where the water is deep enough and where the water is free of stumps. There also has to be a place for the skiers to start from and a place to exit after their acts. The property by the water tower was the only spot where all needs were met.

When plans were being finalized this year for the show, the Belleville Ski Club was promised the "park" would be open for the spectators. Saturday, July 2nd, the fence went up. The area was swarming with Belleville Police and their Auxiliary. The people were told they could not go on the other side of the fence. This meant they could not see the Ski Show. But, remember, this show was widely publicized. I watched people walking down the street, small children in tow, carrying lawn chairs, walking blocks from their parked cars, only to find out they couldn't see the show. To say they were irate, would be quite an understatement, and, who could blame them.

We asked one of the policemen if he knew where any of the Belleville Councilmen were so we could talk to them and were told they were all out of town for the weekend.

One man, sitting in a lawn chair, on the outside of the fence was told he had to spill the beer out of the can he was drinking because it was against a city ordinance. I didn't think too much about this, until I took a walk up to Main Street to see if I could possibly find someone with some authority. What I found was utter chaos. Swarms of people were trying to cross the street; cars, bumper to bumper, were trying to find parking spaces, or just trying to turn down a side street. The parking lot of Hayward's Party Store was literally packed with people drinking beer out in the open. I counted five young people who could not possibly have been over sixteen years of age, drinking openly. Not one policeman in sight. They were all guarding the fence like it was the Berlin Wall.

Yes, I was one of the people who started through the fence against the wishes of the police, and I would certainly do it again. If Belleville was only interested in their shrubs why couldn't they have put their fence around the two or three areas where they were planted. I hope they learned that you cannot advertise festivities, and then not give the people a place to watch them. If they don't want people in their community, let them have enough nerve to cancel everything and tell people the reason.

I would like to make it clear that I am not criticizing the police, if what they said was true. They claim they had their orders to follow. I don't know where their orders came from, but someone had better take another look at their priorities.

This is also a good opportunity to thank National Bank of Detroit for leaving their parking lot open for the weekend. It might also be interesting to ask the Grace Baptist Church why they parked their buses so no one could park by their church. What harm would eight or ten cars have done.

Raps schools on millage request

To the Editor:

What does a "yes" vote in the coming redundant millage election mean? Does it mean restoration of cancelled music lessons? Does it mean keeping ten (10) schools open, so everyone can enjoy neighborhood schools?

Not to me, it doesn't. A "yes" vote means saying to the powers that be, "Okay. Your threats worked." "Okay, hire more administrators at salaries of $30,000.00 per year or more." "Okay, build another administration building elaborate enough to house these $30,000.00-a-year wastrels!"

How can the electorate of the Van Buren School District justify voting "yes" for all these school administrators in a Township that doesn't feel its Supervisor, who is responsible for more than schools, is worth more than $17,000.00 per year?

Please don't tell me about the education and the years of arduous study these people have had to endure because many other professionals attend school for comparable periods of time and yet are able to manage on more meager incomes. If they feel the need to make $25,000.00 or more a year, let these school administrators get into the competitive corporate structure of G.M. or Ford, where productivity, accountability, and managerial competence determine the value of a pay check.

You can expect to pay more money to larger staffs for school whose graduates are ill-mannered and illiterate. Oh, but, of course, this graduate can play the marching drums or cymbals excellently; these achievements are ever so valuable and necessary in today's adult world.

Further, I would like to direct your attention (particularly, those voters who are contemplating a "yes" vote in the next painfully repetitious millage election) to another facet of the parasitic administration of the school district. Have you recently visited the Administration Building, located near the Belleville High School? Please take the time to see your tax dollars in action before August 30th. It is an expensively decorated building worthy of the top executives of any prestigious corporation. For contrast, on the day you gaze upon that luxury, also visit the Van Buren Township Hall on Tyler Road and see the austerity of decor. This unit of government operates on 1 mill!

The present school millage is 30.65 mills plus 1.09 mill for the Intermediate School District totaling 31.74 mill for school operation as opposed to the 1 mill allowed for the entire operation of the Van Buren Township.

A "yes" vote means, "Go ahead, Van Buren School District Administrators, take my money! You are not accountable for it. SPEND. SPEND. SPEND."

If we need band and baseball money, sell that Administration Building and cut those administrators' salaries, and you'll have funds for these community programs for years.

STOP WASTING MY MONEY...

I encourage all other taxpayers of this school district who feel their tax dollars should be as frugally spent as they are painfully earned to join with me and VOTE "No" August 30th.

Good Samaritan thanked for deed

Letter to Editor:

I am directing this to you in lieu of not knowing what newspapers are in your community but wanted someone to know of the nice, considerate people who do live there — I was fortunate to meet one of your residents last evening under a misfortune of mine.

I was coming from Ann Arbor to I94 toward Detroit around 9:00 PM when my rear tire blew out causing me great alarm — I had come off Geddes road to US23 and in that particular area there were no phones nor anything around where I could call for help. I had sent my 12 year old daughter up and around the Corrigan Warehouse but to no avail —

After standing by the car for quite a long period of time and flagging trucks, autos, etc., down no one would stop and during times such as this I can readily understand same — However I was with my two daughters 12 and 10 and obviously in trouble —

Along came a little red volkswagon with a gentlemen (possibly Korean, Chinese) with his wife and he did stop! Not only did he stop he proceeded to change the tire which was quite a feat inasmuch as I was driving a 4-door Pontiac stationwagon and it was a very messy and dirty process.

I did not get his name unfortunately but did ask him if he lived nearby because I was concerned he had gotten himself so "messed up" trying to help me and he stated he lived in Belleville. Thus my letter to you!

I would like to thank this man again if it is ever possible because unbeknown to him I had just recently lost my husband and have had quite a traumatic experience(s) in my life and at the point of this man's stopping I just wasn't too sure how to handle that.

My sister resides in Ann Arbor which is where I had been visiting but I had no way of phoning her at that point. This man was a blessing and if anyone in the Chamber of Commerce ever sees a little red volkswagon with a gentleman as described PLEASE convey my sincere appreciation and thanks to him. He is indeed a tribute to this country and your community.

Thank you —

Reflections

You can't win!

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

For almost thirty years my Sunday mornings have begun with some little kid wanting his breakfast. With our last kid celebrating her sixteenth birthday a few weeks ago we thought that Sunday mornings at our house might become the kind of Sunday mornings which other people who are grandparents enjoy.

And so there I was this yesterday morning, sleeping with great joy while my arms grabbed the pillow close to me. My partner was hugging his pillow, and he was sleeping happily, too.

It was 8 o'clock in the morning. It was the kind of day that no one should ever have to wake up to. One could hear the drizzle of the icy rain on the window panes and the wind was teasing the trees outside.

That's when the telephone rang. "Grandma," came a tiny voice. "Can Mike and me come over? We're fightin' and mama wants us to go over to your house."

"Where's Mama?" I asked sleepily. "She's in bed," and that was all I heard before the receiver was slammed down in my ear.

"Well, she's out of bed now," I thought as I curled up with my pillow.

The telephone rang again. "Grandma," the littlest voice said. "Can we come over to your house? Darcy is fighting with me."

"Where's your mama?" I asked him.

The receiver was slammed down again. Mama was taking care of things. Again I curled up with my pillow, only to have the phone bring me up from sleep.

"Grandma," said the littlest voice with a sob. "I'm mad at you. You made me get a spanking and tonight I'm going to bed and dream bad dreams about you!"

'A religion that works'

A valid religious experience that is meaningful and personal has three sides — a base, which involves belief, one side involves confidence, which is faith, and the other side involves trust, which is commitment.

Knowledge, truth and belief equal the foundation, the product of the mind. Confidence and faith are the products of emotion. Commitment and truth are the products of will. The heart and substance of all Christian faith is to be wrapped up in these three sides of the "Christian Experience".

KNOWLEDGE

Jesus said: "If you know these things". Christianity is premised on the intellectual acceptance and knowledge of certain facts. It is not grounded in fables, superstition and ignorance even though sometimes we glorify ignorance and deprecate intellectualism and knowledge. Jesus laid the foundation: "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." The responsible intelligent acceptance of truth brings freedom.

Today, we are the best educated people the world has ever known, yet we are enslaved as shackled in the chains of hate, deviousness, selfishness. We used to say if we could just see our children with a good education, they would have the key to life. Now, we have universal public education, and it has not opened the doors to abundant life.

TRUTH

What did Jesus mean when He said knowledge is the foundation of Christian faith? He was not just talking about the body of facts, but a supreme truth the ultimate truth back of all the universe. Jesus said: "I am the way, the truth and the light". That great truth came when God broke through in history in His own self revelation in Jesus Christ (God with us). He came in Jesus Christ to give His revelation of His nature.

His love — what God is like — His way and will for us. His creation — to provide His way of reconciliation. To reclaim lost man and a lost universe and a lost humanity in His redemption of this world. That is the truth incarnated.

That is the ultimate truth. It is based upon the knowledge that God was in Christ, reconciling the world to himself. All Christian faith has to begin with the acceptance and knowledge of the fact. This acceptance is formulated in what is called the Kerygma and the declaration of certain facts about church.

BELIEF

Weneed to know who He was, why He came, what He did, what happened, and what He has done for us. That knowledge! "If you know these things, this truth shall make you free."

The record of that revelation, what we call the Bible — the divinely inspired account and record of God's might saving acts of revelation as He breaks into history and deals with men. A foundation of Christian experience is not only the belief about Jesus Christ as the supreme truth, but also the knowledge of His word, speaking to us that we may come to know Him personally.

Jesus said go ye into all the world, proclaim, preach, be evangelistic, yes; then teach them to observe all things. We are to be a teaching church

"Happy are ye, if ye do them."

The Christian faith must be found in action. Jesus said better you never know about the gospel than to know and feel and not do. That will be the judgment of many of us. We have heard-we have known; we have felt what we ought to do. But we never translated our knowledge and feelings in the action that God demands of us.

When there is commitment on our part and when we apply ourselves, we have confidence. With your mind, you know. With your will, you must make a choice. Make a commitment, do it today by saying: "Lord, I am sorry that I have sinned against you. Forgive me and take charge of my life that I might experience the religion that works."

TODAY'S Real Estate

by M. Phyllis Crabtree

The choice among house types and among individual examples of each is really quite complex. Usually single family houses offer the most privacy. Duplexes and row houses are more private, than let us say, apartment houses. Many people prefer the sense of a small private world, which is possible in a well designed and well maintained house. They also believe that separate houses are better places for children. What does your family prefer? Before you do any serious house-hunting, sit down together and decide what you feel would be essential to good housing for you as a family unit.

Many unusual home styles are available thru the offices of CENTURY 21 COMMUNITY REALTORS, 10675 Belleville Road, Belleville. Why not let us tell you all about them. Find the home of your dreams with COMMUNITY REALTORS. Whether you're a buyer or seller, you will find a competent staff of friendly, capable sales representatives waiting to serve you. Phone 697-2121.

DID YOU KNOW? Always examine houses carefully before purchase. Be really sure that your new home will be a happy one.

AUTO FACTS

By Jr. Kosin

For combining maximum power and minimum weight with low cost and high durability, the modern internal combustion engine has no equal. The most popular model in terms of sales volume, is designed to develop about 170 horsepower and to do so efficiently enough to move a two-ton car between 10 and fifteen miles at 60 miles per hour on one gallon of gasoline. Small engines, however, work on the same principles as the V8 engine — and their gasoline mileage is much more satisfactory.

Do-it-yourself mechanics keep gas mileage with low periodic engine tuneups! Visit KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster, for the parts and accessories you need. Whether you own a foreign or domestic car, KOSIN'S has everything you need to keep it running at its best. We also have a complete selection of automotive tools. Ask about our machine shop repair service! KOSIN'S is open daily from 8 A.M. until 8 P.M. and on Saturdays until 5 P.M. Call us at 563-3894. Bank Americard and Master Charge are honored.

AUTO TIP: If your oil filter becomes clogged, the bypass valve is forced open and oil enters your engine directly.

SELL IT THRU CLASSIFIED

Young emphasized that the sirens being considered are not surplus equipment, but are new items costing about $8,500 each, depending on the quantity purchased. Any interested community should contact the Office of Emergency Preparedness (former Civil Defense Office), which will handle the application for grant funds.

For you trollers, take a good look at the July issue of Outdoor Life. The article on using your downriggers on the inland lake is very informative, and I know that it works.

Keep watching for those big salmon to start moving in closer to shore before long. Harrisville is reporting a good number of kings and Harbor Tackle Land in Harrisville predicts the best year ever. Thin spoons with good action fished at least 25 pulls behind the cannonball seem to produce the most fish. Flutter spoons and Northport Nailers have been the most popular lures in Harrisville this year. If you're planning on fishing at Harrisville stop at Harbor Tackle. Fred and Merv can and will tell you exactly how far out, down, and back you'll need to fish that day.

Presently, only Detroit, Northville and Lincoln Park have effective siren systems in operation, he said.

Squash, cukes lose blossoms

Tips from the Garden Doctor this week include:
Q: The blossoms are falling off my cucumbers and zucchini. What is wrong?

A: A vine crop has only male blossoms for the first couple of weeks. Thereafter, it will have both male and female blossoms. Male blossoms always drop off.

Female blossoms, identified by a tiny fruit between blossom and vine, might also fall off, if there are adverse growing conditions, such as drought or hot weather. You can only water deeply during the rainless weeks and be patient.

Q: Can I get rid of the crabgrass that has appeared recently in my lawn?

A: Crabgrass is not easily controlled. However, if it is important to you that this be eliminated, use DSMA twice at a 7-day interval. DSMA is available under several trade names. The best and easiest control for crabgrass is to put on the pre-emergent control in early spring. Crabgrass germinates from seed each spring.

Q: How can I keep sowbugs and pillbugs out of the basement?

A: These small creatures will wander indoors, if there's a high population outside, so concentrate your efforts outdoors. If there's anything keeping the soil around the foundation moist, such as mulch or densely growing shrubs, remove the material so the soil will dry. Sowbugs and pillbugs like moisture.

Any watering around the house foundation should be infrequent or eliminated. Caulk any cracks in the foundation or crevices around the basement windows. If, in spite of these precautions, they continue to come indoors, Diazinon can be used around the exterior foundation. But keep in mind that these creatures do no harm indoors and, do not reproduce inside. They're only nuisances.

Q: What kind of general spray can be used for grapes?

A: Grapes, as well as the other small fruits such as raspberries, can be treated with the all-purpose fruit spray used on tree fruit. It contains both fungicide and insecticide. Follow directions on the label.

Q: The trunks of our elm trees are covered with small yellow and black worms. Will they damage our trees and shrubs?

A: The larvae of the elm leaf beetle currently is coming down from the leaves where it's been eating. The gathering at the trunk is preparation for pupating into adults. They have been eating elm leaves since late May, so most of their damage already has been done. Spray the worms congregating on the trunk with Malathion, but make a mental note to control them with Sevin next May when they first start their damage. No they won't bother other trees or shrubs.

Make pies now for winter

Now's the time to stock your freezer with summer's bounty, to be baked into pies with a taste of summer when the weather turns wintry. Use any of the plentiful plums now in the market — red, blue, or purple, singly or in combination. Later, when fresh plums are premium priced or non-existent, you'll be able to bake juicy, economical pies even when snow is falling.

Freezer preparation could scarcely be easier. Simply combine sliced plums, sugar, Minute Tapioca, and flavorings. Let stand 15 minutes; then freeze in pie shapes. The recipe for Frozen Plum Pie Filling makes enough for 4 generous 9-inch pies which can be baked in freshly made pastry anytime up to six months from freezing.

Aside from ease of preparation, using quick-cooking tapioca as the thickening agent in fruit pies carries another bonus. It bakes with fruit juices to a jewel-like translucency with just the right "set" — not too thick or sticky — not too thin. You can substitute quick-cooking tapioca for cornstarch or flour in any of your favorite fruit pie recipes. In recipes calling for cornstarch, just substitute an equal amount of tapioca. In recipes calling for flour as a thickening agent, substitute a slightly less amount of tapioca.

Frozen Plum Filling

- 3 qts. prepared fruit (about 6 lb. plums)*
- 5 cups sugar
- ¾ cup quick-cooking tapioca
- 1 teaspoon salt

½ teaspoon cinnamon

*Use red, blue or purple plums or any combination of these.

First prepare the fruit. Pit and slice plums; measure 3 quarts. Combine plums, sugar, tapioca, salt, and cinnamon; mix well. Let stand 15 minutes. Makes enough filling for four 9-inch pies.

Then freeze the filling in pie shapes. Line four 8-inch pie pans with freezer paper, heavy duty aluminum foil, or several thicknesses of plastic wrap, letting lining extend 5 inches beyond rim of pans. Loosely cover each filling with extending lining. Freeze until firm. Then seal lining tightly over filling. Remove wrapped filling. Remove wrapped filling from pans. Return to freezer.

Filling may be stored in freezer up to six months. To bake pies. For each frozen filling, prepare pastry for a two-crust 9-inch pie, using favorite recipe. Roll half of pastry less than ¼ inch thick. Line a 9-inch pie pan and trim pastry at edge of rim. Roll remaining pastry ¼-inch thick and cut several small slits or a fancy design near center.

Remove wrapping from filling and set the frozen block of fruit into the pastry-line pan. (Do not thaw.) Dot filling with about 1 tablespoon butter. Moisten edge of bottom crust. Center top crust on filling and trim, letting pastry extend ½ inch beyond rim. Press top and bottom crust together on rim; then fold top crust under bottom crust. Flute edge. Open slits in top crust to permit escape of steam during baking. Bake at 425 degrees about 55 minutes or until syrup boils with heavy bubbles that do not burst.

Cook beef in cans for camp meals

All the responsibilities of home can't always be left behind—even on a camping trip. There are meals to be prepared, although this chore can be fun in the relaxing, invigorating outdoors.

Packaged and canned convenience products are the basics of the camp kitchen, but often the family yearns for fresh meat, points out Reba Staggs, National Live Stock and Meat Board. For a hearty "home-cooked" meal, she advises picking up a round steak at the nearest food store and using saved empty, clean cans to cook individual servings of hot and hearty beef stew on the grill.

Hobo Beef Dinner

2 pounds round steak, cut ½ inch thick

- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 6 medium carrots, pared
- ¾ cup uncooked rice
- 6 beef bouillon cubes
- 3 cups water
- 6 clean 16-ounce cans
- 6 8-inch squares aluminum foil

Cut round steak in strips ¼ inch thick and 2½ to 3 inches lng. Combine flour, salt and pepper; dredge meat in seasoned flour. Place beef strips in each can dividing equally. Slice a carrot into each can, and add 2 tablespoons of rice and 1 bouillon cube to each. Pour ½ cup water into each can and cover can with square of foil. Secure tightly, twisting two opposite sides. Place cans on grill and cook at low to moderate temperature until meat, carrots and rice are tender (1½ to 2 hours). 6 servings.

7-7-77

"Seven" was the number July 7 at the Edward J. Hungerford Jr. home at 17000 Renton Rd., Belleville, when their daughter, Kellie, observed her seventh birthday. Being seven on the seventh day of the year 1977 (7-7-77) is that rare occasion when the digits suddenly fall into line for four-of-a-kind. Kellie, a second grader at Haggerty Elementary School, marked the very special date with her parents and two sisters, Karen, 11, and Sharon, eight. Kellie's mom made her favorite chocolate cake topped with a big seven for the celebration.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER R. STEUCK II

Florida honeymoon follows Steuck-Nugent ceremony

Following a week-long honeymoon at Disney World in Orlando, Fla., the newly wed Walter R. Steucks, II took up residence at 20749 Martinsville Rd., Belleville.

Kathleen L. Nugent became Mrs. Steuck at Hope Lutheran Church in Dearborn where The Rev. D. S. Rolik presided at the 6:30 p.m. rite. Double ring vows were solemnized before a candlelight altar adorned with bouquets of white and yellow fusi and pomp mums.

Music for the occasion was played by Mrs. Wilma Stone and sung by Alex Spears.

Some 250 guests witnessed the ceremony which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Nugent of 11507 Dewitt, Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Steuck of 20749 Martinsville Rd., Belleville.

Given in marriage by her father, Kathy was gown in a toe-touching dress of white taffeta with the overlay of chiffon enhanced with lace. Styling details on the fitted bodice were a semi-Mandarin collar of lace above a scoop neckline and full sheer sleeves made with softly flounced cuffs.

A mantilla headpiece held the bride's full-length illusion veil which was outlined with delicate lace. A hand bouquet of white sweetheart roses, white cymbidium orchids and baby's breath completed her ensemble.

For the "something borrowed" in her outfit, Kathy wore her maternal grandmother's diamond pendant.

As her sister's maid of honor, Cynthia Nugent donned a yellow polyester gown with an accordionpleated skirt and a triangular cape of floral chiffon. Her large picture hat was also in yellow with streamers down the back and her colonial bouquet was made up of yellow carnations, white daisies and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids in identically styled mint green outfits were Mrs. Frederick (Brenda) Steuck of Allen Park and Mrs. William (Bonnie) Steuck of Brighton, sisters-in-law of the bridegroom, and Joanne Otto of Belleville.

Four-year-old Heidi Steuck, the daughter of the Frederick Steucks of Allen Park, was flowergirl at her uncle's wedding. Her little mini green chiffon frock was designed with a ruffled tiered skirt. She tucked a mint green bow in her hair and carried a basket filled with yellow carnations, white daisies and baby's breath.

Michael Jackson, the 4-year-old son of the Russell Jacksons of Belleville, carried out the role of ringbearer.

The bridegroom asked his brother, Frederick Steuck of Allen Park, to serve as best man. Groomsmen were William Steuck of Brighton and Dale Nugent and Phillip Steuck of Belleville, all brothers of the bridal pair.

At the reception which followed at the Romulus Progressive Hall, the 250 guests were greeted by Mrs. Nugent in a floral print eggshell chiffon gown to which she added her corsage of yellow cymbidium orchids.

A white orchid and salmon colored roses were presented to the bridegroom's mother who donned an apricot chiffon gown with a companion cape for the occasion. She also made and decorated the wedding cake served at the reception.

Graduates of Belleville High School, Kathy is employed as a dental assistant in Ann Arbor and her husband is with Chatham Distribution Center in Taylor. He also is attending Cleary Business College in Ypsilanti.

The rehearsal dinner, held at Hoppe's Restaurant in Dearborn, was hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

Hudge-Sayre set vows for October

The engagement and autumn wedding plans of their daughter, Judith Ann Hudge, and Thomas James Sayre are announced by Mr. and Mrs. William Hudge of 14075 Elwell Rd., Belleville.

Both young people are 1976 graduates of Belleville High School.

The bride-elect is employed at E & V Plastic Plating Company of Belleville. Her fiancé, who is a member of Wayne County Young Farmers, is affiliated with his family at Sayre and Sons Produce Farm of Belleville.

St. Anthony's Catholic Church has been reserved for the couple's October 28 altar date.

Booklet covers pre-natal queries

Women who are pregnant for the first time and those who have had a baby before, may have a lot of questions about the changes taking place now and those to come.

"Prenatal Care," a publication of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, answers many of the questions women have and explains how to maintain general good health during pregnancy.

The booklet tells what to look for between checkups with the doctor; how much weight to gain; how to handle common health complaints such as nausea, fatigue and backache; and what will happen when you get to the hospital.

In addition, the booklet points out some interesting facts about pregnancy:

"Mothers who smoke have a greater chance of having a baby with a low birth weight. If you do smoke, try to cut down on the number of cigarettes.

"Varicose veins are an enlargement of your veins, usually occurring in the lower leg. Frequently these varicose veins will get smaller and disappear during the first few weeks after you have your baby. Try to avoid tight clothing. If possible, try not to stand in one place for a long period of time. Sit down and put your feet up occasionally.

"During pregnancy do not take any drugs or medicines — not even an aspirin — unless prescribed by your doctor."

UHT Memorial Funeral Home

Harold Rediske

"HOW DO I PRE-PLAN A FUNERAL?"

First, discuss your wishes with us or any of the other fine funeral homes in the area. We will talk about your preferences as to religious services, the minister, selection of music, readings from scripture, and flowers. Costs for caskets, fixed and optional funeral services, and cemetery fees will also be covered. Second, a completed pre-arrangement document will be provided. In it, all of your wishes and costs will be recorded. Your copy should be kept in a safe place and given to your executor, friend or relative. There are no costs or obligations for preparing this. Third may be pre-financing. This is optional and at your discretion. After we record your wishes, it can be arranged in several ways: (1) pre-payment in full; (2) partial payment and provision made for installment payments; and (3) partial pay with balance to be paid by insurance, Social Security, Veterans Administration, etc. Pre-planning is sensible and realistic. It can be done without stress or grief. It provides great "peace of mind" in knowing that an unpleasant, yet necessary, task has been completed in advance, thereby sparing your loved ones a difficult task later on.

Van Buhlers number 85 at reunion

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

The Van Buhler clan, 85 in all, got together July 10 for their annual family reunion which this year included celebration of two birthdays. The men-of-the-hour were Russell Van Buhler Sr. who was marking his 80th natal date and his son, Russell, who is 20 years his junior. Two decorated cakes were served in observance of the "special years."

In honor of their "octogenarian" dad, the group presented him with a family album full of pictures of his children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren including wedding photos and others taken at past events.

Held at Van Buren Park, the day began with a potluck dinner at 2 p.m. Games and festivities planned by Ken and Mary Slagle of Wyandotte and Ray and Leona Van Buhler of Belleville followed.

Those attending from Belleville besides the family patriarch were Ann Bondie, Bob and Odalee Hoelt and family, the Ray Van Buhler family and Gloria Polzin and family and a guest, Glen Sieben.

Others included Russ and Bea Van Buhler and family from Taylor; Walter and Mill Van Buhler and family of Royal Oak; Don and Johanna Van Buhler who came from Denver, Colo. for the occasion; Bill and Phyllis Kinnell and family of Dearborn; Jack and Nancy Van Buhler and family of Plymouth and the Kenneth Slagle family of Wyandotte. Also attending was Mrs. Virginia Caswell, Russell Sr.'s sister from Farmington.

Wedding, engagement prompt trip South

An invitation to the wedding of their granddaughter and an open house marking the engagement of another prompted the trip which Mr. and Mrs. Carter Hall of Romulus made to Atlanta, Ga. recently.

The twosome, accompanied by their son-in-law and daughter, Greg and Nancy Wohlfiel of Redford, winged their way southward and were houseguests of Mrs. Hall's sister, Mrs. Winona Swick in suburban East Point.

On July 8 they all were guests at the ceremony which united Robin Leigh Whittaker and Lester Jay Pool in marriage. Following the rite at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Whittaker, the group attended the reception held on the lawn and patio.

Two days later the visitors were introduced to John Bell, the fiancé of Amy Lynn Whittaker, and members of his family who entertained at a small reception in honor of the couple's betrothal.

Before returning to Michigan, the Halls and Wohlfiels enjoyed sightseeing in and around Atlanta and also visiting friends.

Mac Dougalls chalk up 20th anniversary

Romulus residents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. MacDougall, who reside at 28484 Forestdale, marked their 20th wedding anniversary July 20. In honor of the occasion, they enjoyed dinner out with two of their former bridesmaids, Eleanor Krasko and her husband, Robert, and Mary Jane Bierkamp and her husband, John.

Mrs. MacDougall, the former Patricia Gardynik of Detroit, and her husband were married July 20, 1957 at St. Francis Church in Detroit. Their five children are Christina, who lives in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Daniel, Jeffrey, Gregory and Anthony, at home. The family has lived in the Romulus community for the past eight years.

As employee of Durr's of Livonia, Dan works as a pipefitter. In his spare time he enjoys hunting and golfing and expects to do a lot of the latter when he and his wife travel to Fort Lauderdale to visit their daughter and further celebrate their anniversary.

The MacDougalls are members of St. Stephen's Catholic Church in New Boston. Mrs. MacDougall, who enjoys bowling, keeps busy as treasurer of Cub Scout Pack 1739.

About deadlines

As is the case with most human beings, we fail to see what we're not looking for or fail to see what we don't want to see.

In this particular instance we are referring to deadline notices which we attempt to print each week on the Suburban Living pages — boxed in notices that say "Suburban Living Deadline, Thursday, 2 p.m."

There's a reason for this deadline, be assured of that. We have to have time to prepare copy to be taken to the typesetters in our production office in Wayne.

With news coming across our desk and via the telephone throughout the day, there has to be time in which to write, re-write and edit copy as well as to compose heads and cutlines and plan layouts for the next issue.

We ask that you please try to remember that 2 p.m. Thursday is the cut-off time for accepting news which you expect to see in the following week's Suburban Living section. We will gladly take items after the deadline but, more likely than not, they will be a week late appearing in print.

Your cooperation will get your stories printed on time.

Davis-Elliott nuptial rite read at Episcopal Church

Pamela Gay Elliott, who was Belleville's Junior Miss in 1972, came "back home" July 9 to be a bride and change her status quo to Mrs. Dwight Allen Davis. She chose to be married on the same date her grandparents were wed in 1914.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Elliott of Roscommon, formerly of Belleville, Pam exchanged wedding bands and nuptial vows at Trinity Episcopal Church. The Rev. David Lee presided at the ceremony at seven in the evening before an altar appointed with two large vases of gladiolas and mums.

Some 200 relatives and friends assembled for the happy occasion and later gathered at the PNA Hall to congratulate the young couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis of Somerset, Ky. are parents of the bridegroom.

Escorted up the aisle by her father, Pam appeared in a white gown fashioned with a "U" neckline, wristpoint sleeves and a little fitted bodice frosted with Venice lace. The lace motif was repeated on the back of the dress and on the chapel-length train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion, bordered with matching lace, was caught to a lace headdress which formed a mantilla effect. Completing her bridal finery was a bouquet of white rosebuds and baby's breath.

Preceding the bride to the altar were her five attendants: Jeanne Dannison of South Haven, the maid of honor, and Shannon Rupp of Ann Arbor; Dawn Pyshnik of Belleville; Karen Nichols of New Boston, and the bridegroom's sister, Paula Sweigart.

Miss Dannison was distinguished by the yellow jacket dress and matching picture hat which she wore. The other four, in identical mint green frocks and hats, held nosegays of yellow roses.

Don Michelson came from New York to carry out the duties of best man. Others on the esquire side were Mark Davis, the bridegroom's brother from Bloomington, Ind.; Keith Elliott, the bride's brother from Garden City, and Jerry Filson and Jim Wilson from Indiana.

Mrs. Elliott chose for her daughter's wedding a blue crepe gown with a sequined chiffon cape. Her corsage was comprised of pink orchids. A yellow-long-sleeved gown was worn by the bridegroom's mother who was presented with a corsage of yellow flowers.

Following their wedding trip, the newlyweds took up residence at 4340 Hilldale, Las Vegas, Nev. where the bridegroom is employed as a musician at the Tropicana Hotel.

The new Mrs. Davis, a graduate of Belleville High School, attended Eastern Michigan University for two years and earned her bachelor of music degree at Indiana University in Bloomington. Until recently she was a violinist with the Florida Symphony Orchestra.

An alumnus of Indiana University where he received his bachelor of music degree, Davis continued post graduate studies at the University of South Florida and Indiana University.

The rehearsal dinner was held at Haab's in Ypsilanti.

Britain, Southern Ireland on itinerary for travelers

Traveling to Britain and Southern Ireland for 21 days has been the privilege enjoyed by Mrs. Winifred Gault, Miss Florence Renton, Mrs. Stella Bunnell and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering.

Accompanying the Discovery Tour Group of 23 members with The Rev. and Mrs. Rudolph Boyce of Detroit as tour hosts, they left Metro Airport June 25, flying British Caledonian to London and on the return trip as well.

Having been met by bus in London, they headed north, visiting Shakespeare country, the Cotswolds, Coventry and Newcastle on the Tyne area.

Four days were spent in Scotland where they toured the castle, Inverness, Glasgow and the lake country of the Highlands including Loch Ness and Loch Lomond.

From there they continued on to beautiful Wales and went by boat across the Irish Sea from Holyhead to Dublin, Ireland. An Irish bus driver shared his beautiful tenor voice by often singing lovely Irish songs to his group while conducting them through the green countryside of Wales and Ireland.

Five days were spent in Ireland visiting Dublin, Tipperary, Limerick, Killarney, Cork and the Blarney Castle with its famous stone. They also toured the cut glass crystal plant of Waterford.

Crossing again during an overnight boat trip on the Atlantic and the Bristol Channel, they went to Cardiff, Wales and Swansea enroute to England. There they enjoyed the sites of Stonehenge, the cathedrals of Salisbury and Canterbury and the White Cliffs of Dover.

Other privileges included the Knappage Medieval Banquet and Historical Pageant in an ancient Irish castle; a fabulous Georgian Home, Castletown near Dublin and a Gilbert and Sullivan stage play in a theatre building dating back to 1974.

Sunday services were attended at St. Patrick's of Dublin and the Bristol Cathedral in Bristol, England. They also visited John Wesley's homes and chapels there and in London.

Four nights and three days in London completed the tour with guided and personal tours of the city and special attention paid to the Queen's Jubilee celebration including Westminster Abbey, Windsor Castle, Buckingham Palace, the Tower of London with a view of the Crown Jewels, St. Paul's Cathedral, the Roman Baths in Bath and much, much more.

The group agreed it was a delightful tour.

Senior of the Month

Evelyn Weir: An active individual

July's "Senior of the Month", is Evelyn A. Weir, 72, of Westland. Born in Romulus in 1905, Evelyn has been a lifetime resident of this area. She and her husband of 40 years, Hector, have lived at their present address in Westland for 13 years.

Until recently, Evelyn has been a very active individual.

"In earlier years my kids were my hobby", she replied to a question I asked her about past interests. But her list of other accomplishments is very impressive.

Evelyn originally hoped to become a registered nurse, but left school after completing three years of a 4-year course. She then became a dietitian at what is now called The Nankin Hospital, in Wayne, and later an attendant at M Building at Eloise.

Always interested in sewing, she eventually operated a tailoring shop in her home from 1942 to 1960. Besides sewing, Evelyn bowled, played the organ, crocheted, knitted and quilted.

She also was an avid gardener, and just last year, at the age of 71, painted the entire inside of her house — without help.

Most of those activities have ended now. Evelyn has crippling rheumatoid arthritis, high blood pressure, and is blind in one eye after three cataract operations. But instead of sitting back and reflecting on what she can no longer do, Evelyn switched her energies to other outlets.

Her own garden is missing now, but she did not give up canning. She buys produce when in season and cans and freezes enough to last all winter. Freezing in small containers, the Weirs have peaches, plums, pears, applesauce, tomatoes and chili sauce (to name a few) at their fingertips from one season to the next. Evelyn feels the final products cost her about 25 cents for two servings.

Asked how else she is fighting inflation, she replied: "We stopped drinking coffee. We use a coffee substitute in the morning, and drink tea during the day." She also watches sales, checking all the store ads in the newspapers, and is an avid coupon user. Evelyn either makes her own bread, or uses self-rising bread for savings. Mr. Weir wouldn't know what store bought desserts taste like, for Evelyn bakes regularly, keeping homemade pie dough on hand in the freezer.

Evelyn feels strongly about the plight of senior citizens. She feels seniors who are homeowners, would be better able to cope, if they were relieved of the burden of school taxes. Barring that, she wishes school taxes would at least come due in the summer, when expenses are lower. "Prices eat up every raise we get in Social Security", she admonishes. "And medical and heating bills take a great percentage of our income."

Evelyn is a baseball and hockey fan. She has no favorite players, preferring "just to see a good game". She feels badly about the disintegration of family life as she once knew it. A member of the Methodist Church when she was still able to attend, Evelyn thinks problems are created when families no longer attend church together, or participate in family meals.

Evelyn would like to see more ramps built for wheelchairs and people on crutches. And she wishes builders would leave more trees in subdivisions.

The Weirs have one deceased daughter. Their other children include: Dora Alice Cook, residing in Missouri; Susan Marie Schuster, a California resident; and Ervin Weir of Bloomfield, Ind. They have 15 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Because Evelyn Weir "would rather live in a tent than move to an apartment", I hope she is able to enjoy her home for many years to come. There is a tree growing tall outside her window.

VIPs may utilize helicopter, not car

If Wayne County Commissioner Alex Pilch of Dearborn has his way, Washington VIPs will no longer tie up and disrupt I-94 traffic with their tight-security automobile caravans, but move between Detroit Metropolitan Airport and downtown Detroit by helicopter.

The County Board of Commissioners agreed with Pilch's suggestion and unanimously adopted a resolution "respectfully suggesting" that there is a better way for the VIP trip to and from the airport.

"It is customary," the Pilch resolution stated, "that the I-94 freeway be closed and guarded by platoons of police at considerable extra expense for the presidential and vice-presidential auto caravans, thus causing severe disruption of the normally heavy freeway traffic with attendant inconvenience to the regular freeway motorists."

Pilch added, "After all, that's the way its done in Washington when the president leaves the White House for Andrews Air Force Base."

The first-term Dearborn commissioner explained that the notion occurred to him during a recent meeting of the local host committee for the National Association of Counties conference when the sheriff's office reported that special police protection for the event would run into thousands of dollars.

Pilch said it takes at least 100 officers from the county, Detroit and suburbs to handle a VIP motorcade.

"With the county looking at a $10-12 million deficit this year, we've got to pinch pennies everywhere," Pilch added. "Avoiding any more traffic annoyances on I-94 would help in that respect."

Museums
is printed

A visitor's guide to the historical museums in Michigan has been published by the Historical Society of Michigan and contains a listing of more than 120 such museums in the state.

The guide provides all the important information a visitor will need, such as the museum's address, phone, hours and fees. In addition the name of a contact person is given whenever possible to answer any questions. For instance, many museums are open by appointment in addition to the scheduled hours and will make special arrangements for group tours. And although only the adult admission fee is listed, many museums have separate rates for children, senior citizens and family groups.

Michigan's community and regional historical museums interpret many fascinating aspects of the state's colorful history. An authentic 1840s fur trading cabin in Munising is among the 24 Upper Peninsula museums listed. In Fayette, visitors can see a 19th century iron smelting town at the Fayette State Park. Old Fort Wilkins also is located in a state park at Copper Harbor.

An even 100 museums are listed representing the Lower Peninsula. Among the many different types of museums are a tavern in Cambridge Junction, a farm in Stockbridge, the Old Lighthouse in Presque Isle, the Matilda Dodge Wilson home, Meadow Brook Hall in Rochester and the Dossin Great Lakes Museum on Belle Isle.

Copies of the directory are available for 25 cents from the Historical Society of Michigan, 2117 Washtenaw Avenue, Ann Arbor 48104.

Boat tours Burt Lake area

Large excursion boats were once a common sight carrying passengers on Michigan's inland Waterway — a 45-mile stretch of connecting rivers and lakes from Cheboygan on Lake Huron to Conway near Lake Michigan.

Tour boats, from 1870 to 1920, provided not only a tourist attraction, but a necessary transportation function during the area's early years as an increasingly popular vacation spot.

The tour boat industry diminished and died as roads and automobiles improved, and the more affluent vacationers acquired their own motorboats for fishing and traveling the inland Waterway.

This summer has seen the return of the excursion boat to Indian River and Burt Lake through the efforts of a group of local businessmen who have purchased a 30-foot, 24-passenger ferry boat to provide sightseeing trips for vacationers.

The boat will be docked in Indian River, between Burt Lake and Mullett Lake. The promoters plan up to six trips daily during the summer. Each trip will last 45 minutes to one hour. Fall color tours and private charters also are being considered.

The Village of Indian River is located in Cheboygan County's Tuscarora Township, just off I-75, approximately 25 miles south of the Straits of Mackinac. This year the township is celebrating its 100th birthday. Appropriately, the boat owners have named their vessel "Tuscarora Chief" to coincide with the local centennial and honor the Indian heritage of the area. Incorporated with the tours will be a description of the locale's scenic and historic sites.

Further information about the cruise schedules may be obtained from the Indian River Resort Region Chamber of Commerce at (616) 238-9325, or by writing care of Indian River, MI 49749.

Barriers are still there

Segregation: It's how you look at it

(NOTE: Segregation means being excluded from the full life of the society. Being denied privileges and rights available to others can take many forms, both overt and covert. They all cause pain and waste valuable human resources.)

There is a case to be made that handicapped people still — despite legislation and regulations—experience a kind of segregation. This month Bill Kiser, who has been severely disabled by cerebral palsy for nearly 50 years, looks at how things have changed and what still stands in the way of handicapped people achieving full integration in society.

In America no signs say "Able-Bodied Here and Handicapped Here." Bus drivers do not order disabled people to the back of the bus. We are free to come and go. No laws govern fur conduct. But I assert that we experience segregation. You may ask: "How can handicapped citizens consider themselves to be segregated in today's society?"

As one who has had a severe cerebral palsy involvement all of my life, I know from personal experience that many forms of segregation are not spelled out. My parents were not told that I must go to a certain school, they were just told that I could not go to school.

No sign has ever forbidden me to enter a public building or told me which restroom to use. Architectural barriers have been more than enough. No bus driver or conductor has told me where to sit, but a few have refused to carry me since I cannot get off and on unassisted. Some cab drivers have made me feel smaller than a grasshopper—and some won't even take me. No law has kept me from marrying and establishing a home, but society's belief that it's beyond my reach has had much the same effect.

The segregation handicapped people experience is different from that experienced by racial and other groups, but we have many things in common. Like all other segregation, our problems are a result of ignorance and misunderstanding on the part of others. Education can do much to break down the barriers of ignorance and prejudice. The President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped and similar groups are helping the public see disabled persons as whole individuals with certain limitations.

The outsider may be puzzled about the fact that handicapped people today are making more noise about their rights despite having more opportunities than ever before. This is again a similarity with other minority groups. Research has proven repeatedly that people on the bottom of the social-economic ladder seldom are able to voice their longings and desires. Once they make a few gains they become more vocal and are able to express their goals more clearly.

No newcomer to the ranks of the handicapped myself, I freely admit trying to break through barriers that I would have accepted 20 to 30 years ago. For example, as a teen-ager I accepted the fact that all colleges and universities were closed to people like myself. The thought of joining with other handicapped students in legal action to force a college or university to make its campus accessible never occurred to me.

The line between reality and unnecessary segregation often is unclear. When a group of my friends decides to go for the weekend to the mountains, where there are unbelievable natural and architectural barriers, I usually go too. In spite of my feeding difficulties, I attend an increasing number of public dinners. All of this points up the fact that much of the segregation we experience can be mitigated by our limitations.

While progressive laws, better education, and special devices can do much to prevent the segregation of handicapped people, true integration in the long run depends on overcoming the barriers of ignorance and misunderstanding. When we are able to see each other, handicapped and nonhandicapped alike, without labels, then we will have overcome the most subtle kind of segregation.

GO VACATION!

Farmers mark Safety Week

Now through Sunday has been proclaimed as National Farm Safety Week, according to Richard J. Smith of New Boston, local agent for the Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

"We consider this an important week for farmers in Wayne County," Smith said. "Because of the Farm Bureau Insurance Group's close tie with Michigan agriculture, we are promoting Farm Safety Week in cooperation with the Michigan Rural Safety Council."

The theme of this year's safety week is "Safety Is a Good Investment," as designated by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, joint sponsors of the event.

"This week emphasizes farm safety as a means of reducing costly accidents that cut productivity and result in tragedy for thousands of farm families," Smith said.

Accidents in 1976 claimed the lives of 5,400 farm residents in the United States and caused about 500,000 disabling injuries, according to preliminary estimates of the National Safety Council.

"Improved safety technology is of little value unless farmers make safety a part of their everyday work and living," Smith added. "Safety is an investment that always pay."

If you don't already know him, please let us introduce Bill Oakley - candidate for Mayor of Romulus.

Bill's a hard-working, self-employed businessman who can take a tough, yet practical and economical approach to the big problems of running a city.

Most importantly, he is an honest, fair and independent-minded man who doesn't play the game of political favorites. As Mayor, Bill would be working for all of you, not just a chosen few.

What else is Bill Oakley? He's experienced. He's been elected to City Council three times; he's also been a member of the Romulus Community School Board. In fact, Bill is one of the people who helped our city get its start by serving on the Romulus Charter Commission.

Bill Oakley has proven himself as a competent representative of the people, who puts the needs of the city first. In short, he believes in people above politics.

Piscopink wins city golf tourney

Wayne golfer fires 6-under-par 138

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Tom Piscopink put on a one-man show over the weekend and shot a six-under-par 138 to win the 21st annual City Championship Golf title at Fellow Creek Golf Course.

Engineering a two under par 70 on Saturday, Piscopink unneringly returned the following day and shot his best round ever on the 6,210 yard layout in Canton Township.

He rammed home a four-under par 68 in the finals to capture his second championship in 10 years.

Dismissing any threat from a record field of more than 135 golfers, Piscopink had a comfortable six-stroke victory over 18-year-old Westlander, John Lyons, and Garden City's Bernard Jedowski who checked in with 144's.

Runner-up a year ago to tourney medalist Westland's Paul Wiekierak, Piscopink also secured his hold on the Wayne title and also retained the Lenny Anderson Memorial Trophy.

That trophy is offered by the Wayne Police Officers' Association to the winner of the City of Wayne championship. Patrolman Anderson was the first officer in Wayne's history to die in the line of duty,

Victory: Again and again

Like a TV rerun, Wayne's Tom Piscopink is back in the winner's circle again this year. Piscopink played his best round ever at Fellow Creek over the weekend to retain the Lenny Anderson Memorial Trophy, presented by Anderson's younger brother, Bill. Piscopink won the trophy a year ago and also earned the city title for Wayne. He survived the pressure this year to emerge from a field of more than 135 golfers to claim medalist honors at the 21st annual tournament, sponsored by The Associated Newspapers and the parks and recreation departments of five communities.

'Sandbagging' and golfing

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

The phenomenon that occurs in these parts every year around July is over.

The City Championship Golf Tournament is now, as the saying goes, "merely academic."

But, predictably, much of the dialogue and monologue still lingers.

One word that can't be dismissed is, "sandbagging" — a word that accentuated the vocabulary of more than one golfer during the two-day tournament staged over the weekend at Fellow Creek Golf Course.

Simply, "sandbagging" is intentionally holding back of ones' best effort in order to fall into a flight where one feels he or she can win.

"I feel something must be done about it," said Westlander Benny McGough who has competed in at least the last 10 city tourneys. "How can one guy shoot 90 the first day then come back and play par golf the next?"

McGough wasn't the only one who felt his colleagues "were playing to win trophies." (Trophies were awarded to the top three finishers in each of the flights and there were some 36 given out.)

However, Bill Hawley, tournament manager, didn't give much credence to the argument.

"Sure, maybe one or two guys are out here to win trophies," Hawley said, "but I don't think the more than 100 players have 'sandbagging' on their minds when they play."

"Most golfers — and athletes — I have found over the years are very honest," Hawley continued. "And the basic premise of this tournament is to find the top five golfers from each of the cities and qualify them for the state tourney."

But, before the tournament becomes obscured by football and fall sports, maybe one can come up with a formula to completely eliminate "sandbagging" or alleged "sandbagging."

Rumors also continue to persist about the sale of Fellow's Creek Golf Course.

One of the contestants said he and a group were contemplating purchasing the course but when the sales tag of $1 million was posted, they "couldn't raise that kind of money."

But Canton Township, where the course is located, is studying the possibility of purchasing the course to turn it into a township enterprise.

The township shouldn't have much difficulty floating bonds for the sale, but, with a recall election hanging over township supervisor, Harold Stein, and a couple of trustees — it isn't likely that Stein would give his enemies another issue to lead him to the political guillotine.

One of the youngest golfers to even participate in the meet is 15-year-old Brian Bielecki, out of Garden City.

Brian, who will be entering Garden City East High School this fall, has been touring golf links for five years but the City Championships, "was his first major tournament."

"I was really nervous," Brian admitted, "but I really enjoyed it."

Saturday, didn't see that happen this year.

"I really didn't feel the pressure this year," Piscopink said. "This is the best I've ever played and my short game... my putting... was the difference."

Ironically, Piscopink had reason to falter. He said he had sinus problems and nearly decided to miss this year's competition.

But six birdies on Saturday and five more on Sunday gave the 30-year-old former Wayne Memorial star his coveted victory and a premature birthday present.

Tom celebrated his birthday yesterday.

Lyons, making his debut in local tournament play, has a host of national junior tournament experience behind him. The good-looking teen-ager had his problems the first day as he posted a two-over par 74.

However, on Sunday, Lyons bagged an Eagle on the third hole and sank five birdies to shave two strokes off of par and wound up with 144 for 36 holes.

Lyons, who taxis between Odessa, Texas where he attends a junior college and Westland, will be trying to qualify for the Michigan Open.

"The third time I ever played golf I shot a 79, so my dad told me why not take up the sport seriously," Lyons related.

Close on Lyons' heels in Westland were Murray Brooks and Bob Thomas who turned in identical 145's. The two were forced into a "sudden death" playoff which resulted in Brooks' triumph on the third extra hole.

Lacy Hill, the defending Inkster city champ, struggled the first day, emerging with a 82 and when he got down to business on Sunday it was too late.

Hill carded 156 which left him three strokes off the pace set by the reigning champ, Jim Wydick, who shared the first round lead with the threesome of Angelo Garfole, Richard Dicesore and Bruce Markwardt — all with 78's.

While the three challengers hung on and made a chase of it, Wydick survived the crisis and coasted home with a 75 to nip Garfole by one stroke, 153-154. Dicesore was forced to settle for third place, two strokes behind the champ.

Wydick, who won the Inkster title three years ago at Fox Hills, lost the crown to Hill a year ago after a playoff.

"I always try to forget that one," Wydick said. "I had my problems Saturday when I couldn't get the ball in the hole but I put it together on Sunday — and that's what counted."

Deedler, who had moved to Canton just before last year's tournament, continued to reign as the top golfer in the township.

His efforts consisted of even-par 72 golf in the preliminary round and one-over par 73 on Sunday for a 36-hole total 145.

Deedler shook off a challenge by Bill Kelley who trailed the front-runner by two strokes after the first round. However, while Deedler turned in a 72 in the finals, Kelley

Belleville gals head for state tournament

After surviving some close calls, Belleville's Senior Girls' Softball champs will head for Kalamazoo to compete in the state finals.

Coaches Dick Nota, Sue Mlsna and Sandy Brown will find three other teams eager to upset Belleville's title plans. The three are Cheyboy, Grosse Pointe and Milwood.

The tournament will get underway on Thursday and end Saturday. The championship will be determined on a double elimination (two losses) basis.

Belleville edged Lincoln Park North 5-4 in the district playoffs as pitcher Betsy Nota tossed a five-hitter, she walked and struckout five.

Two decisive runs in the sixth and a run in the seventh turned the game into a Belleville victory. Nancy Wisniewski scored what proved to be the winning run when Jackie Moore drilled a bases-loaded single in the bottom of the seventh.

Two other hits, one by Kim Buckley and Nota, who doubled, set up the victory. Singles by Vicki Foust and Yvette Templimon, who made two outstanding defensive plays in left field, preserved the victory.

In their second appearance in the tournament, Belleville crushed Lincoln Park North 14-7 as Judy Brown helped her cause with a pair of hits and scored three runs. The Belleville hurler gave up six hits.

Lincoln Park helped in its own demise as the Parkers committed seven errors and also allowed Belleville batters to reach bases on walks.

Miss Foust chipped in a two-run double while Miss Nota laced a two-run single as did Debbie Kotlke who reached base twice via bases on balls. Kim Beckley also had an easy day as she strolled to first three times thanks to walks.

In sectional playoff competition, Belleville buried Richmond 9-2 in the first game, then dumped their rivals 12-2 to win the title.

Betsy Nota stitched a three-hitter in the 9-2 triumph as her teammates came up with several outstanding defensive plays.

Belleville combined 11 walks and 11 hits in this victory while Miss Templimon collected a perfect three for three, Kotlke picked up two hits in two trips and two walks while Miss Foust belted two hits in four appearances and scored three runs. Linda Spiro (2-4) and Nota helped her cause with a pair of walks.

Miss Brown got the assignment to stop Richmond in the second game and she twirled a two-hitter and received a 11-hit support from her teammates.

Linda Spiro helped the winners with two hits and Foust, who got aboard on two walks and a single, contributed three runs. Nancy Wisniewski went two for two and Nota again came through with two hits.

For the first time in the Senior League's history, a team emerged with a perfect record. The Ms. Hits posted an untarnished 15-0 mark.

Repeat performance

It isn't often one finds a city golf champ who can successfully defend his title, but Canton's Paul Deedler (second from left) managed to survive and retain his crown despite challenges from runners-up, Bill Kelley (center) and Ray Engler. Deedler's 145 total for 36 holes was a comfortable five-stroke cushion over Kelley. Making the first place plaque presentation is Bill Hawley (at left), the tournament manager.

Teen-ager is tops in Westland

Good-looking John Lyons receives the first place plaque and congratulations from Paddy Lynn of Westland Parks and Recreation after Lyons posted an even par 144 for 36-holes to win the city golf title for Westland. Lyons made his first appearance in the local tournament. However, Murray Brooks (center) and Bob Thomas (at right) were right in the chase, a mere stroke behind. Brooks won a "sudden death" playoff from Thomas to finish runner-up.

Westland, Wayne to hold amateur tennis tournaments

Westland and Wayne parks and recreation departments will sponsor tennis tournaments next month.

But, there will be one major difference: Westland's is open to players in the area, while Wayne's meet will be open to residents, students who attend the Wayne-Westland Community School District and employees of the city.

Deadline to enter the Westland Open is this week and tournament dates are Aug. 4 through 7 at the John Glenn High School and Marshall Junior High School courts.

Players may play in one singles and one doubles competition. Men, women, boys 18 and under, boys 14 and under, girls 18 and under are eligible to compete in the tournament.

Each player must also supply all his own equipment including a new can of USLTA approved tennis balls. The winner of each match will advance and take the new balls while the loser will keep the used ones.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners and runners-up in each class.

The USLTA rules of play will apply, unless in conflict with local recreation rules.

Entry fees are $2 for adult singles and junior doubles and $1 for junior singles. Adult doubles' fee is $3. For further information please contact the recreation department at 729-4560.

The dates for the Wayne tournament are Aug. 19 for boys and girls' events, 17 and under; Sat., Aug. 20 for men, women's and mixed doubles.

Any division with less than eight entries will not be played.

Entries must be received by 9 p.m., Thurs., Aug. 18 and there is an entry fee for each division.

So, what's new?

McMurray retains Canton softball division title again

There were a couple of reasons for McMurray's Insurance to celebrate after its 5-1 victory over Little Caesar's last week.

First, it gave the undefeated team its sixth consecutive Canton Parks and Recreation Class A softball championship and, secondly, it stretched the unbeaten champs' winning streak to 12 in a row.

McMurray's is only three games away from a perfect season.

"Big" Mike Stanislawski supplied the punch for the Insurance men in the victory over Little Caesar's as he had a perfect evening with three straight singles.

Third baseman Bob Schebel had a two-for-three performance.

McMurray picked up three runs in the second inning led by Bob Schebel's run producing single and Rick Martinez's sacrifice fly ball and Bob Blaine's hit.

Gary (Wheels) Truskowski had two hits in three at bats, as did Dave (Steady) Raimor for Caesar's.

Mike Eves had a fine pitching effort as he held the Pizzamen to seven safeties.

Don Massey, the second place Division "A" team with a respectable 8-4 record, disposed of Clark Block 18-12.

Massey's squad put on an impressive show at the plate as three players had perfect performances.

Jack Warner was four-for-four, Craig Warner was two-for-two, followed by Mike Hanlon's three for three effort for Massey.

Tom (Slick) Battistone had three singles good for two RBI's.

Shortstop Mark DeRoche had a fine day with a HR and three singles good for two RBI's for Tom Zurcher's squad. Clark Block's attack was highlighted by Rick Paulon's triple and a single with two RBI's.

Meanwhile, Division "B" champs Perlongo, edged a stubborn Meijer's Thrifty Acres team 9-5.

Perlongo managed to score at least a run in every inning except the fourth.

The offensive outburst was led by hurler Terry Ransier. Terry had a triple and two singles.

Wayne Butsin had two hits which accounted for two RBI's for the excavating crew. Meijer's had two players who chipped in with two singles., Joe Shanabrook and Ron Stepek.

Latin Quarter Catering picked up its fifth victory of the season by trouncing the second place Merchants 18-9. The winners had their home run bats alive as they slammed out four roundtrippers. Joe Bennett homered, doubled and had two singles. Neil Carnes of Latin Quarter also had a home run and single.

Teammate Nick Trapponi also had a home run and triple good for three RBI's, while lefthander for Latin Quarter Paul Zacharias had a home run and single that accounted for three RBI's.

Losing pitcher for Merchants, Dave Strioneck, had a fine day at the plate with a double and two singles worth three RBI's.

Right centerfielder Mike Slavin banged a roundtripper for the losers.

The Lion and the Sword, lodged in third place, squeaked by Chapman Realty 16-15 as Pasquale Ferritti and Jim Gaberial had perfect efforts at the plate for The Lion & The Sword with three straight hits, including a home run for Pasquale.

Manager Terry Brozek had two hits for the winners. Chapman came up with four runs in the top sixth, but fell one run short of tying the contest and two of winnings. Third baseman Jim Doherty banged out two doubles and a single for Chapman Realty. Teammate Greg Callanair also connected for two singles and a double.

Best in Garden City

Smiling for the photographer are Bernie Jedlowski (from left), Mike Corden and Don Mullet who proved they're among the best golfers in Garden City. Jedlowski stopped Corden from retaining the city's amateur golf title by posting a 144 for 36 holes at Fellows Creek to win the championship. Corden was six strokes back at 150 while Mullet, always a serious threat, finished third with 152. More than 20 Garden City golfers joined a field of 135 at the annual five-city tournament which determines the qualifiers for the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association's state finals. The finals will be held in Walled Lake in September.

Westlanders make Daly's a winner

Westland talent played a key role in helping Livonia's Daly Restaurant capture a fourth place at the fourth annual Saginaw Pro-Am Women's Fast-Pitch Softball Tournament.

The players are Tina Lilla, Joanne Pachiva and Nancy Jimenez. After playing a league doubleheader in Livonia on Friday night, the girls packed off to Saginaw early Saturday morning for an opening round game against Sandi's Scissors of Saginaw.

In this game Miss Pachiva, with a lifetime fast pitch batting average of .434, notched three more hits and Jimenez exploded a first inning two-run double to lead Daly to a 14-10 win.

Nancy, who along with Joanne, playing for Daly for the third year, is currently a vital factor in Coach George Sommerman's basketball squad at John Glenn.

Both girls are members of Daly's State Championship teams of 1975 when they were ninth graders at John Marshall.

For Tina Lilla, it was a chance at the tournament to demonstrate some of her fine defensive skills as she was inserted into the Daly lineup at third base as the regular third baseman was unable to make the trip because of cheerleading practice.

Lilla, in her first year with the Daly girls is more or less a "walk on" that earned one of the three rookie openings on the team.

"Every once in a while we get a girl who just calls up, comes out, and makes the team," said Dalv manager Bob Thompson.

"Usually most of our girls come out on the recommendation of a player or parents."

Such was the case of former Westland schoolgirl, Janice Boyd who attended Stevenson Junior High. Janice, a standout second baseman for three years at Stevenson has now turned her talents to fast pitch pitching and is currently the top rated pitcher on the Daly staff.

Boyd, who will be starting her junior year at Plymouth Salem in September, pitched the Daly team to a fourth place finish two weekends ago in the Bay City Fast Pitch Invitational.

Cougars signing up gridders

It's time to sign up for the Belleville Cougars' Junior Football Association season.

The Cougars have set aside Sat., July 30 and Aug. 6 for registration. Registration will be accepted at the Belleville High School auditorium beginning at 10 a.m. until noon.

Players ages 9 through 13 are urged to sign up at this time. If a player can't attend either session, he should contact Mrs. Gloria Traskos 699-2692 after 5 p.m. or Mrs. Diana Villa at 699-9880.

Ovidon is back on top

Getting some unexpected but welcomed help from Centry Farms, Ovidon Manufacturing is back on top of Canton's Class C softball standings.

Metro was an upset victim of Centry's which rallied for a narrow 5-4 victory over the title-hopeful. The winners struck for three runs in the fifth inning, then held on for their fifth triumph.

The Farmmen tallied three runs in the fifth and held on to pick up their sixth victory.

Mark Crawford led Centry with two-for-three performance.

Paul Deedler chipped in a timely double in the fifth to finish the Metro Bolt & Fasteners.

Left centerfielder Ken Kibit had three straight singles for the losers. Ovidon Manufacturing, taking advantage of the loss to Metro Bolts & Fasteners, hammered Huffman's Roofing 29-6.

Ovidon scored 10 runs in the last two innings to add to their already comfortable lead.

Chad McDonald blasted a circuit clout as well as banging out two hits for Ovidon.

Yet, the biggest hero of the day was third sacker Joe Daratony who smashed a tape measure three-run homer and sliced a single. Joe knocked in four RBI's and scored four runs himself. John Korpus also scored five runs for the winners, as well as hitting two singles. Left fielder Dave Monty hit a home run for Huffmans in a losing cause. Greg May also chipped in three hits for Huffman's Roofing.

The Churchmen from Geneva Church had cause to celebrate as they picked up their second win of the season 16-8 over the Canton Police. The law men of our community had trouble with the pesky Churchman's attack.

Richard Shanks of Geneva connected for a triple and two singles worth three RBI's. Teammates John Roessler and Ralph Brickman chipped in with two hits apiece. Marshall Agge and Dan Antieu of the Canton Police slammed round-trippers. First baseman John Sherwin went two for three including a triple and double for the losers.

Barracudas elect new slate of officers

With their eyes on the 1977-78 season, the Westland Barracudas have selected a new slate of officers.

Jim Luckett has been elected as the president of the amateur swim club while Tom Green is the first vice president. Other officers include John Wilbur (second vice president); Virginia Attwood (secretary); Claire Bacer (treasurer); equipment chairpersons: Flo Luckett and Ann Costolo.

Sue Barnhill was selected as the publicity chairperson and Don Kubiak was named as the AAU delegate.

The Barracudas will be busy for the next month as they have at least six meets scheduled. They will compete in a dual meet at Hoiday Park Pool, Wayne Rd., south of Joy, at 5 p.m. on Thurs. July 28 and be at the AAU "A-B-C" Long Course meet at the Midland Community Center on Sat., Sun., July 30-31.

The Barracudas will start morning practices from 8 a.m. until 10 a.m. on Mon., Aug. 8 through Aug. 12, then on Thurs., Aug. 11 will vie in a dual meet at John Glenn where the combined teams of Garden City and the Barracudas will meet the Livonia Blue Racers.

There also will be a Barracuda Party on Aug. 12 from 8 to 10 a.m. at the John Glenn High School pool, and they'll bring down the season with an AAU "A" meet on Aug. 19-21 at the Battle Creek Invitational.

Schools set physical exam date

Though the high school athletic season doesn't begin until Aug. 18 — when the prep gridders usually report — area athletic directors caution prospective athletes to get their physicals.

Wayne Memorial athletic director Bill Hawley said that physicals for those contemplating on participating in football, cross country and golf will be held from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m., Aug. 9 in the high school gymnasium.

John Glenn athletes will have an opportunity to get free physical examinations on Sat., Aug. 6 or Aug. 13 beginning at 8 a.m.

"All those who will be out for the girls' tennis, swimming and basketball teams should report on Aug. 6," said Don Domke, athletic director.

The boys cross country and football team candidate should report at 8 a.m. on Aug. 13.

Physicals for all fall athletics will also be given at Franklin Junior High School on Aug. 18, beginning at 2 p.m. All eighth and ninth grade students who are planning to tryout for football, girls basketball, girls track, or boys swimming must have a physical examination.

Students should meet in the school cafeteria.

Seventh graders are required to obtain a physical from their family physician prior to admission to junior high.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association, the governing body of high school athletics in the state, stipulates that all athletes must have physicals in order to play in competitive sports.

Salem grid star signs with Grand Valley

Dave Champion, an All-Area, All-State griddier and grappler from Plymouth Salem High School, has signed a national letter of intent to attend Grand Valley State College this fall.

Champion is a 6-foot, 210-pound defensive tackle.

Co-captain of Plymouth Salem's 1976 football team, he won All-League and All State Honorable Mention honors.

Champion, an outstanding wrestler in high school, could be a valuable asset to the Lakers wrestling program.

Grand Valley finished second in the National NAIA tournament last year.

"David showed great ability in both sports," said Coach Jim Harkema of GVSC. "We plan to use him on the defensive line, where he can use his ability to get to the ball."

Grand Valley has one of the finest up and coming football programs in the area. The Lakers, who were 8-2 last season, will open the 1977 campaign on September 10, when they take on Bowling Green at Houseman Field in Grand Rapids.

Champion is the son of R. D. Champion and Phyllis Champion of 44028 S. Umbarland, Plymouth.
